NEW QUESTION # 92

What is one anti-pattern of the Inspect and Adapt?

- A. Too many ideas enter the problem-solving workshop
- B. No actionable improvement Features are created
- C. Only one problem is identified by each team in the retrospective
- D. Not enough team members attend the PI System demo

Answer: B

Explanation:

One anti-pattern of the Inspect and Adapt (I&A) is to have no actionable improvement Features created as a result of the problem-solving workshop. This is considered an anti-pattern because the main goal of the I&A workshop is to identify and address the systemic issues that are limiting the effectiveness of the Agile Release Train (ART). The workshop should produce one or more improvement Features that are added to the ART backlog and prioritized for the next PI Planning event. These Features should be SMART (Specific, Measurable, Achievable, Relevant, and Time-bound) and aligned with the ART vision and goals. Without actionable improvement Features, the ART will miss the opportunity to learn and improve from the feedback and data collected during the PI.

NEW QUESTION # 93

What is one benefit of having an IP Iteration every PI?

- A. It creates a timeboxed opportunity for team growth
- B. It creates a guardrail for teams working too hard
- C. It creates an estimating buffer for meeting PI objectives
- D. It creates a chance for teams to manage quality

Answer: C

Explanation:

One benefit of having an IP Iteration every PI is that it creates an estimating buffer for meeting PI objectives. PI objectives are a set of SMART goals that align the teams and stakeholders to a common vision and mission for the upcoming Program Increment (PI). They are derived from the business context, priorities, and dependencies, and are agreed upon and committed by the teams during PI Planning¹. However, since PI objectives are based on estimates and assumptions, there is always a degree of uncertainty and variability in the delivery process. To account for this, SFA recommends that teams reserve 10% of their capacity for each PI as an estimating buffer. This buffer is used during the IP Iteration, which is a unique, dedicated iteration that occurs every PI and provides dedicated time for innovation, continuing education, PI Planning, and Inspect and Adapt events². By having an IP Iteration as an estimating buffer, the teams can improve the predictability and flow of value delivery, as well as reduce the stress and pressure of meeting the PI objectives³.
