Cisco Understanding Cisco Cybersecurity Operations Fundamentals Sample Questions (Q391-Q396):

NEW QUESTION # 391

A company encountered a breach on its web servers using IIS 7.5. During the investigation, an engineer discovered that an attacker read and altered the data on a secure communication using TLS 1.2 and intercepted sensitive information by downgrading a connection to export-grade cryptography. The engineer must mitigate similar incidents in the future and ensure that clients and servers always negotiate with the most secure protocol versions and cryptographic parameters. Which action does the engineer recommend?

- A. Install the latest IIS version.
- B. Deploy an intrusion detection system
- C. Downgrade to TLS 1.1.
- D. Upgrade to TLS v1.3.

Answer: D

Explanation:

Upgrading to TLS v1.3 is recommended because it eliminates outdated cryptographic functions and reduces the risk of downgrade attacks, which can occur when attackers force connections to use weaker encryption.

TLS v1.3 only supports secure cipher suites and algorithms, enhancing the security of communications.

NEW QUESTION # 392

Refer to exhibit.

An analyst performs the analysis of the pcap file to detect the suspicious activity. What challenges did the analyst face in terms of data visibility?

- A. data encryption
- B. IP fragmentation
- C. data encapsulation
- D. code obfuscation

Answer: A

Explanation:

When analyzing a pcap file, data encryption can pose a significant challenge in terms of visibility. Encrypted data cannot be easily inspected, which means that the analyst may not be able to view the contents of the network packets to detect suspicious activity.

NEW QUESTION # 393

Refer to the exhibit.

□ Refer to the exhibit. An engineer must map these events to the source technology that generated the event logs. To which technology do the generated logs belong?
