Splunk Core Certified Advanced Power User Sample Questions (Q87-Q92):

NEW QUESTION # 87

What command is used to compute and write summary statistics to a new field in the event results?

- A. tstats
- B. stats

- C. eventstats
- D. transaction

Answer: C

Explanation:

The eventstats command in Splunk is used to compute and add summary statistics to all events in the search results, similar to stats, but without grouping the results into a single event.

NEW QUESTION # 88

What type of drilldown passes a value from a user click into another dashboard or external page?

- A. Contextual
- B. Visualization
- C. Event
- D. Dynamic

Answer: A

Explanation:

Contextual drilldown allows values from user clicks to be passed into another dashboard or external page, making dashboards interactive and responsive to user input.

NEW QUESTION # 89

When using a nested search macro, how can an argument value be passed to the inner macro?

- A. The argument value must be specified in the outer macro.
- B. An argument cannot be used with an inner nested macro.
- C. The argument value may be passed to the outer macro.
- D. An argument cannot be used with an outer nested macro.

Answer: C

Explanation:

When using a nested search macro in Splunk, an argument value can be passed to the inner macro by specifying the argument in the outer macro's invocation (Option A). This allows the outer macro to accept arguments from the user or another search command and then pass those arguments into the inner macro, enabling dynamic and flexible macro compositions that can adapt based on input parameters.

NEW QUESTION # 90

Which function of the stats command creates a multivalue entry?

- A. list
- B. makemv
- C. eval
- D. mvcombine

Answer: A

Explanation:

The list function of the stats command creates a multivalue entry, combining multiple occurrences of a field into a single multivalue field.

The list function of the stats command creates a multivalue entry by aggregating values from multiple events into a single field. This is particularly useful when you want to group data and collect all matching values into a list.

Here's why this works:

* Purpose of list: The list function collects all values of a specified field for each group and stores them as a multivalue field. For example, if you group by user_id, the list function will create a multivalue field containing all corresponding product values for that user.

* Multivalue Fields: Multivalue fields allow you to handle multiple values within a single field, which can be expanded or manipulated
