NEW QUESTION # 67

Which elements need to be checked after a Career Site Builder site is moved from stage to production?

- A. CSB Role Based Permissions
- B. Advanced Analytics
- C. External redirects open in the same browser tab
- D. Site URLs

Answer: D

Explanation:

Comprehensive and Detailed In-Depth Explanation:

Post-move validation ensures the Career Site Builder (CSB) site functions correctly in the production environment. Let's identify the critical element to check:

* Option D (Site URLs): Correct. Verifying URLs (e.g., careers.company.com) ensures proper routing, accessibility, and DNS resolution after the move from stage to production.

* SAP Documentation Excerpt: From the Implementation Handbook: "After moving the CSB site from stage to production, check the site URLs to confirm they resolve correctly to the production environment and that all pages are accessible to candidates."

* Reasoning: A misconfigured URL (e.g., staging.company.com lingering due to an incomplete DNS update) could block candidate access. Testing involves opening careers.bestrun.com in a browser, pinging the domain, and ensuring it loads the production site (e.g., checking for the correct SSL certificate and content). This step is part of SAP's post-deployment checklist to confirm the site is live and functional.

* Practical Example: For "Best Run Corp," the consultant visits careers.bestrun.com post-move on March 5, 2025, and confirms it displays production jobs, not stage data.

* Option A (External redirects open in the same browser tab): Incorrect. Redirect behavior (e.g., new tab vs. same tab) is a design choice configured pre-move and doesn't require post-move validation unless specifically altered.

* Option B (Advanced Analytics): Incorrect. Advanced Analytics is validated separately post-implementation, not as a direct result of the site move.

* Option C (CSB Role Based Permissions): Incorrect. Permissions are set and tested in stage, not rechecked post-move unless a specific issue arises.
