- A. NetApp XCP
- B. NetApp SnapMirror
- C. NetApp FabricPool
- D. NetApp BlueXP copy and sync

Answer: B

NEW QUESTION # 31

Which of the following best describes the difference between data lakes, data warehouses, and lakehouses?

- A. Data lakes store raw, unstructured data, data warehouses store structured data, and lakehouses combine the features of both.
- B. Data lakes store structured data, data warehouses store unstructured data, and lakehouses store only real-time data.
- C. Data lakes store data in cloud storage, data warehouses store it in traditional databases, and lakehouses store it in external drives.
- D. Data lakes store metadata, data warehouses store transaction data, and lakehouses store archival data.

Answer: A

NEW QUESTION # 32

An AI architect is reviewing the design for a new data lake. The primary requirement is to store petabytes of unstructured data (images, video, sensor logs) in a highly durable, scalable, and cost-effective manner. The data will be accessed via S3 API by various data processing and analytics applications.

The initial design proposes using a traditional Network Attached Storage (NAS) filer with a large number of disks. The architect reviews the proposal:

Proposed_System: Traditional NAS Filer

Protocol: NFSv4

Scalability_Model: Scale-up

Metadata_Handling: Centralized in filer head

Cost_per_GB: Moderate

Why is this proposed system a poor choice for a petabyte-scale data lake?

- A. A traditional scale-up NAS system will face scalability and cost-effectiveness challenges at the petabyte scale compared to an object storage system.
- B. The S3 API cannot be used to access data stored on an NFS file system.
- C. NFS is incapable of storing image or video files.
- D. A NAS filer cannot be deployed on-premises.

Answer: A

NEW QUESTION # 33

An online retail company's recommendation engine, which provides real-time product suggestions to users, is experiencing unacceptable latency. The inference application is running on a correctly-sized edge server, but user requests are taking over 500ms to process. An architect reviews the data access pattern and infrastructure diagram.

Application_Location: Edge Server (In-store)

Data_Source_Location: Core Data Center (On-premises ONTAP)

Data_Required_for_Inference: User profile data, product catalog vectors Network_Path: Edge -> WAN -> Core Data Center

Observed_Latency: 550ms What is the most likely cause of the high inference latency?

- A. The edge server has insufficient CPU resources to run the model.
- B. The on-premises ONTAP system is not configured for high-throughput.
- C. The model is too large to fit into the edge server's memory.
- D. Every inference request requires a high-latency round trip over the WAN to fetch data from the core data center.

Answer: D

NEW QUESTION # 34

A security administrator is reviewing the configuration of a production ONTAP cluster after a compliance audit. The audit requires that all volumes containing financial data must be protected against ransomware. The administrator runs a command to check the status of Autonomous Ransomware Protection (ARP) on a critical volume.

The command and its output are as follows:

cluster-1:> security ransomware anti-ransomware show -vserver svm_finance -volume finance_q1_data Vserver: svm_finance
Volume: finance_q1_data Autonomous Ransomware Protection Status: disabled Learning Mode: normal Dry Run Mode: false
Action on Detection: notify Based on this output, what is the primary security risk for the 'finance_q1_data' volume?

- A. The volume is not part of any Snapshot schedule.
- B. The learning mode is set to "normal," which may not detect zero-day attacks.
- C. The action on detection is set only to "notify," which will not block the attack.
- D. The volume is vulnerable to ransomware because Autonomous Ransomware Protection is not enabled.

Answer: D
