Answer: D

NEW QUESTION # 15

What Investigate tool would you use to allow an analyst to view all events for a specific host?

- A. Process Timeline
- B. Host Timeline
- C. Bulk Timeline
- D. Host Search

Answer: B

Explanation:

The Host Timeline is the Investigate tool that you would use to allow an analyst to view all events for a specific host. The Host Timeline shows a graphical representation of all events that occurred on a host within a specified time range. It allows an analyst to zoom in and out, filter by event type or name, and drill down into event details. The Bulk Timeline, the Host Search, and the Process Timeline are not Investigate tools that you would use to view all events for a specific host.

NEW QUESTION # 16

In the Powershell Hunt report, what does the filtering condition of `commandLine! = "badstring "` do?

- A. Highlights "badstring" in all command lines in the output
- B. Displays only the command lines containing "badstring"
- C. Prevents command lines containing "badstring" from being displayed
- D. Highlights only the command lines containing "badstring"

Answer: C

Explanation:

In the Powershell Hunt report, the filtering condition of `commandLine! = "badstring "` prevents command lines containing "badstring" from being displayed. The ! operator is used to negate or exclude a condition from the search results. The * operator is used as a wildcard to match any number of characters before or after the specified string. Therefore, `commandLine! = "badstring "` means to filter out any command line that has "badstring" anywhere in it. The other options are not correct, as they do not describe what the filtering condition does.
