NEW QUESTION # 67

Which definition of a use case is true?

- A. list of actions or event steps that a customer uses
- B. comparison of the marketing description of what a product does to the customer's experience
- C. list of instructions that customer uses for their software
- D. list of actions or event steps that typically defines the interactions between a role and a system to achieve a goal

Answer: D

Explanation:

A use case is a description of a system's behavior as it responds to a request that originates from outside of that system. In other words, a use case defines the interactions between external actors and the system to accomplish a goal. The actors can be human users, other systems, or hardware devices. Each use case provides one or more scenarios that convey how the system should interact with the actors to achieve a specific business objective.
