APEGS National Professional Practice Examination (NPPE) Exam Sample Questions (Q96-Q101):

NEW QUESTION # 96

Which of the following clauses isn't typically found in regulatory legislation for professional geoscience and engineering associations?

- A. Standards for granting licences or admission to the association
- B. The legal definition of engineering and/or geoscience
- C. Disciplinary procedures for members
- D. The association's history and inception details

Answer: D

Explanation:

Professional legislation typically contains operative provisions that enable regulation in the public interest.

Common clauses include definitions of the regulated practice and protected titles (C), requirements and authority to grant licences/registration (D), and investigation/discipline mechanisms for professional misconduct or incompetence (A). These elements establish the regulator's mandate, powers, procedures, and enforceable obligations. In contrast, detailed historical narratives about the association's inception are not usually part of regulatory statutes; such information may appear in background materials, anniversary publications, or explanatory guides, but statutes focus on legal authority and governance. While legislation may contain a short preamble or transitional provisions, it generally does not include extended "history and inception details" as a typical clause. Therefore, B is the correct choice.

NEW QUESTION # 97

Which of the following statements about a licensed professional's seal/stamp is not correct?

- A. it indicates that the person applying the seal/stamp assumes professional responsibility and is accountable for the document.
- B. It Indicates the person applying the seal/stamp fully understands and agrees with the document's contents and findings.
- C. It Indicates that the person applying the seal/stamp guarantees the accuracy of the document.
- D. It Indicates that the person applying the seal/stamp Is confident in the accuracy of the document.

Answer: C

Explanation:

The incorrect statement about a licensed professional's seal/stamp is that it indicates the professional guarantees the accuracy of the document. While the seal/stamp indicates professional responsibility and adherence to standards for the work represented in the document, it does not constitute a guarantee of accuracy but rather signifies that the work has been performed according to professional standards .

NEW QUESTION # 98

Individuals in which of the following groups are not necessarily bound by the local regulator to conduct themselves professionally while fulfilling their obligations to colleagues, the public, and the profession?

- A. Retired, non-practicing registered members in engineering or geoscience
- B. Postgraduate students pursuing an education in engineering or geoscience
- C. Practicing professional engineers or geoscientists
- D. Registered members-in-training in engineering or geoscience

Answer: B

Explanation:

Regulators have authority over those who are registered/licensed under the applicable provincial/territorial statute: licensed professionals, members-in-training (where the jurisdiction registers EIT/GIT equivalents), and often non-practising/retired registrants who maintain membership status. These registrants are typically subject to codes of ethics, practice restrictions, and discipline processes even if they are not actively practising, particularly regarding title use, misrepresentation, and conduct that could bring the profession into disrepute (A, B, C). In contrast, postgraduate students are not necessarily registrants of the regulator simply by virtue of studying engineering or geoscience. Unless they hold registration (e.g., as a member-in-training or as a licensee), they are generally governed by university policies and general law rather than the professional regulator's code of ethics and disciplinary authority. Therefore, D is the group not necessarily bound by the local regulator.

NEW QUESTION # 99

A professional member employed by Company A is leaving soon to work for Company B, a competitor in the same industry. The member has submitted his resignation and a departure date has been agreed upon.

After submitting his resignation, the member is asked by Company A to attend an industry conference, which will occur prior to the agreed departure date. In order to promote its products, Company B will also send representatives to this conference to promote its own products.

If the member agrees to attend but then promotes his upcoming association with Company B, which of the common codes of ethical principles listed below will the member breach?

1. Professionals shall, in their areas of practice, hold paramount the health, safety, and welfare of the public and have regard for the environment.
2. Professionals shall undertake only work that they are competent to perform by virtue of their training and experience
3. Professionals shall conduct themselves with integrity, honesty, fairness, and objectivity in their professional activities.
4. Professionals shall comply with applicable statutes, regulations, and bylaws in their professional practices.
5. Professionals shall uphold and enhance the honour, dignity, and reputation of their professions and thus the ability of the professions to serve the public interest.

- A. 4, 5
- B. 0
- C. 1
- D. 1, 2

Answer: B

Explanation:

If the member agrees to attend the conference for Company A but promotes his upcoming association with Company B, he breaches the ethical principle that professionals shall conduct themselves with integrity, honesty, fairness, and objectivity in their professional activities (Option 3). By promoting his future employer while still employed and representing Company A, the member demonstrates a conflict of interest and a lack of loyalty, undermining the trust placed in him by his current employer.

NEW QUESTION # 100

A self-insured licensed professional has been notified by their professional regulator that a complaint filed against them is proceeding to the investigation phase. The main reason to consult a lawyer when being investigated by the professional regulator is that misconduct investigations

- A. will be dismissed quickly when facing a show of legal force
- B. can have implications that may require professional legal expertise
- C. allow a lawyer to answer for an absent professional whose focus is on their practice
- D. are best dealt with through self-defence with a lawyer acting as a behind-the-scenes coach

Answer: B

Explanation:

Regulatory investigations are formal processes with procedural fairness requirements and potentially serious outcomes (reprimands, fines, practice limits, suspension, cancellation, publication of findings). NPPE professional regulation content emphasizes that a complaint can also trigger parallel exposure: civil liability, contractual disputes, employment consequences, and in rare cases criminal implications depending on facts. A lawyer helps the professional understand rights and obligations in the investigation, prepare accurate responses, manage evidence and disclosure, avoid self-incrimination or inconsistent statements, and navigate deadlines and hearing procedures. Option B captures this: investigations can have significant legal and professional implications requiring specialized legal expertise. Option A is incorrect-investigations are not dismissed due to "legal force." Option C is incorrect because professionals generally must participate; counsel cannot simply "answer in their absence." Option D is not the main reason; legal counsel is not merely a coach for self-defence but a professional advisor ensuring the matter is handled properly and strategically. Therefore, B is correct.
