Questions (Q179-Q184):

NEW QUESTION # 179

What report allows you to see how successful or active a form has been on your site?

- A. Conversion reports
- B. Landing Page reports
- C. Form reports
- D. None of the above
- E. Campaign reports

Answer: C

Explanation:

Explanation

Form reports show the performance and activity of your Marketing Cloud Account Engagement forms, which are web forms that capture prospect information. You can use form reports to see how many prospects have viewed, completed, or started but not completed your forms, as well as the conversion rate and average time to complete. You can also drill down into individual form submissions and view the prospect's details and activities. References: [Form Reports], [View Form Reports]

NEW QUESTION # 180

What user role must a Marketing Cloud Account Engagement user have in order to verify the Salesforce connector?

- A. Sales manager
- B. Administrator
- C. Sales
- D. Marketing

Answer: B

Explanation:

The user role that a Marketing Cloud Account Engagement user must have in order to verify the Salesforce connector is Administrator. A Salesforce connector is a feature that allows you to connect your Marketing Cloud Account Engagement account with your Salesforce CRM system, and enable bi-directional data sync and alignment between sales and marketing. To verify the Salesforce connector, you need to have the Administrator user role in Marketing Cloud Account Engagement, which gives you full access to all features and settings in Marketing Cloud Account Engagement, including the connectors. You also need to have the appropriate permissions in Salesforce, such as the API Enabled and Modify All Data permissions

NEW QUESTION # 181

How do you use an automation rule to opt out prospects?

- A. You can't use an automation rule to opt-out prospects.
- B. Change prospect field value: 'Do Not Email' to 'Do Not Email
- C. Change prospect field value to Opt-out

Answer: B

Explanation:

Explanation

You can use an automation rule to opt out prospects by changing their field value of 'Do Not Email' to 'true'.

This will prevent them from receiving any email communication from you. You cannot use an automation rule to change the field value to 'Opt-out', since that is not a valid option for the 'Do Not Email' field. You also cannot use an automation rule to opt out prospects by changing any other field value, since the 'Do Not Email' field is the only one that controls the opt-out status of prospects. NEW QUESTION # 182

Arrange the steps to Access a Prospect Record:

- A . Select Prospect
- B . Mouseover Prospects
- C . Click Prospect List

- A. A B C
- B. A C B
- C. C A B
- D. B C A

Answer: D

Explanation:

According to the Salesforce documentation, the correct steps to access a Prospect Record are: B) Mouseover Prospects, C) Click Prospect List, and A) Select Prospect. A Prospect Record is a feature that shows the detailed information and activity history of a prospect in Marketing Cloud Account Engagement. A Prospect Record can be accessed from the Prospects tab in Marketing Cloud Account Engagement, and it can show different sections of information for the prospect, such as details, insights, activities, or custom fields. To access a Prospect Record, the user needs to follow these steps:

Mouseover Prospects: The user needs to move the cursor over the Prospects tab in the navigation bar in Marketing Cloud Account Engagement. This will open a drop-down menu with different options, such as Prospect List, Add Prospect, or Import Prospects.

Click Prospect List: The user needs to click on the Prospect List option in the drop-down menu. This will open the Prospect List page, which shows a list of prospects in Marketing Cloud Account Engagement. The user can customize, sort, filter, search, or export the Prospect List, and they can also perform different actions on the prospects, such as assign, delete, or edit.

Select Prospect: The user needs to select the prospect that they want to access from the Prospect List. This will open the Prospect Record page, which shows the detailed information and activity history of the prospect. The user can view, edit, or update the Prospect Record, and they can also perform different actions on the prospect, such as sending an email, adding to a list, or changing the score or grade.

NEW QUESTION # 183

Which three triggers could be used to define a prospects path in an engagement studio program?

Choose 3 answers

- A. File download
- B. Prospect grade
- C. Custom redirect click
- D. Email open
- E. List membership

Answer: C,D,E

Explanation:

In Engagement Studio programs within Pardot, the paths that prospects take can be defined by various triggers based on their actions or statuses. The following are valid triggers:

List membership: This trigger checks if the prospect belongs to a specific list, allowing for tailored engagements based on list segmentation.

Email open: This monitors whether a prospect has opened an email, serving as a behavioral trigger for further actions.

Custom redirect click: This trigger checks if the prospect has clicked on a custom redirect link, which is often used to track engagement with specific content or calls to action. These triggers help in dynamically steering prospects through different paths based on their interactions with marketing materials.
