NEW QUESTION # 604

A company's long-term top priority should always be to

- A. retain top employees
- B. meet shareholder expectations
- C. satisfy customers

- D. establish repeatable processes

Answer: C

Explanation:

The ASQ Certified Manager of Quality/Organizational Excellence Handbook, Fifth Edition emphasizes the importance of customer satisfaction. Satisfied customers are essential for maintaining a positive reputation, repeat business, and long-term success. By focusing on meeting customer needs and expectations, organizations can build strong relationships, enhance brand loyalty, and achieve sustainable growth. While other priorities, such as establishing repeatable processes and meeting shareholder expectations, are important, they ultimately serve the overarching goal of satisfying customers¹.

NEW QUESTION # 605

Organization X installs new machine learning technologies to identify latent key performance indicators (KPIs). What quality technique could be used to determine the KPIs to enhance the value of the short, medium, and long term strategic planning efforts?

- A. TRIZ approach
- B. Quality function deployment
- C. Kano model
- D. FMEA analysis

Answer: B

NEW QUESTION # 606

A service y has decided to expand the current focus of its regional territory to all of North America. This decision is an example of

- A. a tactical analysis
- B. a strategy
- C. a SWOT analysis
- D. an action plan

Answer: B

Explanation:

Let's break down the options:

* A. Strategy: A strategy refers to a broad plan or approach designed to achieve specific objectives. In this case, the decision to expand the regional territory to all of North America represents a strategic move aimed at capturing a larger market share and reaching a wider customer base.

* B. Action Plan: An action plan outlines specific steps, tasks, and timelines for implementing a strategy.

While an action plan would be necessary to execute the expansion, the initial decision itself falls under the category of strategy.

* C. Tactical Analysis: Tactical analysis involves assessing specific actions or tactics within a broader strategy. It focuses on the details of execution rather than the overall direction. The decision to expand is strategic, and subsequent tactical analyses would follow.

* D. SWOT Analysis: SWOT (Strengths, Weaknesses, Opportunities, Threats) analysis is a tool used to evaluate an organization's internal and external factors. While a SWOT analysis might inform the strategic decision, it is not the decision itself.

Therefore, the correct answer is a strategy¹².
