Adobe Experience Manager DevOps Engineer Expert Sample Questions (Q29-Q34):

NEW QUESTION # 29

A DevOps engineer is migrating an AEM 6.2 instance with a large content repository to AEM as a Cloud Service. The DevOps engineer must prepare the instance to move existing content via the Content Transfer Tool.

Which two actions is the DevOps engineer required to perform? (Choose two.)

- A. Install the latest AEM Service Packs
- B. Refactor the application code
- C. Upgrade the instance to AEM 6.5
- D. Review total index size

Answer: C,D

NEW QUESTION # 30

A DevOps engineer wants to migrate a project code base into Cloud Manager. Which two actions must the DevOps engineer take to make sure the migration is successful? (Choose two.)

- A. Run the Dispatcher validator to make sure there are no errors in the Dispatcher configuration.
- B. Review the source code and make sure it meets the required standards and that all the classes have unit tests.
- C. Build and deploy the source code repository to a local environment using the latest version of the SDK.
- D. Run the source code through a local static code quality checker and analyze the report to identify any potential issues.

Answer: A,C

Explanation:

When migrating an existing AEM code base to AEM as a Cloud Service (AEMaaS), the structure and rules are strictly enforced by the Cloud Manager pipeline. Before pushing code, a DevOps engineer must validate the code locally against the AEM as a Cloud Service SDK to ensure OSGi bundles resolve and mutable /immutable content separations are respected (Option B). Additionally, the Dispatcher configuration has migrated from an Apache-based structure to a strict AEMaaS format. Running the local Dispatcher Validator CLI tool (Option C) is mandatory to ensure there are no syntax or structural errors in the dispatcher configurations, which would otherwise immediately fail the Cloud Manager build pipeline.

NEW QUESTION # 31

A DevOps engineer performs a successful local deployment of the source code to the AEM SDK.

Subsequently, a Cloud Manager deployment is initiated via Cloud Manager. The DevOps engineer encounters runtime errors in the pipeline logs.

The following information is discovered from an analysis of the pipeline logs:

- * An exception occurred in the Sling Repository Initializer
- * The SlingRepository service registration was aborted due to a RuntimeException
- * Failed to set ACL (UnsupportedOperationException): This builder is read only
- * AclLine ALLOW (paths=[/libs/dam/content], privileges=[jcr:read] ) at org.apache.sling.jcr.repoint.impl.AclVisitor.setAcl

What is causing this issue?

- A. The repoint script is trying to modify an immutable path.
- B. The system user lacks permissions in the local AEM SDK.
- C. An OSGi configuration is missing to allow ACL changes during deployment.
- D. The repoint script does not have a runtime exception handler and fails.

Answer: A

Explanation:

AEM as a Cloud Service enforces a strict separation between mutable content (e.g., /content, /conf) and immutable content (e.g., /apps, /libs). Immutable areas are packaged into the read-only base image during the build process and cannot be modified at runtime. When a Repoint script (which executes when the repository initializes) attempts to create nodes or set ACLs on paths beneath /libs or /apps, the Jackrabbit Oak repository rejects the change with an UnsupportedOperationException: This builder is read only, subsequently crashing the Sling Repository service and failing the deployment.

NEW QUESTION # 32

Which features of Cloud Manager improve deployment reliability? (Choose two)

- A. Real-time pipeline execution logs
- B. Ability to modify content directly in production
- C. Option to bypass security checks
- D. Automatic rollback in case of failures

Answer: A,D

NEW QUESTION # 33

A DevOps engineer needs to deploy a filevault package that contains a mixture of mutable and immutable paths to AEM as a Cloud Service, via Package Manager.

What should the DevOps engineer do?

- A. Refactor the content package, set the packageType to "mixed", and leave the filter.xml unchanged.
- B. Refactor the content package, set the packageType to "content", and make sure it contains all subpackages and OSGi configurations.
- C. Refactor the content package, set the packageType to "mixed", and make sure it contains all subpackages and OSGi configurations.
- D. Refactor the content package, set the packageType to "content", and set the inclusion filters to only /content or /conf.

Answer: D

Explanation:

In AEM as a Cloud Service, directly deploying packages via the AEM Package Manager UI is severely restricted. You cannot deploy immutable content (code, OSGi configs, or anything under /apps or /libs) via the Package Manager; immutable content must go through the CI/CD pipeline. If a DevOps engineer is forced to use the Package Manager, the package must be strictly limited to mutable content (authorable content, configurations under /conf, /content, /dam). Therefore, they must refactor the package, explicitly set the < packageType > to content, and update the filter.xml to exclude any immutable paths.
