NEW QUESTION # 35
In which three stages should user availability be clearly defined and communicated?

- A. Deployment, Hypercare, Project Closure
- B. Business Case Validation, Solution Design, UAT
- C. Solution Design, Testing, Discovery
- D. Kickoff, Process Analysis, UAT

Answer: D

Explanation:
User availabilityshould be clearly defined and communicated in theKickoff,Process Analysis, andUAT stages. These stages require direct interaction with Client Team members such asprocess owners,subject matter experts (SMEs), andend users.
* DuringKickoff, availability is discussed to plan for workshops, document reviews, and approvals.
* InProcess Analysis, SMEs are needed to walk through the As-Is process for accurate documentation.
* InUAT, end users test the solution to ensure it meets business needs. Their availability is crucial for timely validation and sign-off.
Clear communication of availability in these stages helps avoid scheduling conflicts, delays, and incomplete information gathering.

NEW QUESTION # 36
In the Business Case and Technical Validation stage, what is the Automation Business Analyst responsible for?

- A. Creating test cases for UAT
- B. Performing coding reviews
- C. Validating business case and cost-benefit analysis
- D. Finalizing Solution Design Document

Answer: C

Explanation:
In theBusiness Case and Technical Validationstage, theAutomation Business Analyst (ABA)plays a key role invalidating the business casefor the selected automation use cases. This includes assessing thecost- benefit ratio,projected ROI, andalignment with business goals.
The ABA evaluates how automating a process would affect productivity, cost savings, error reduction, and customer experience.
They collaborate with stakeholders to collect business metrics, time savings, and resource utilization data that feed into a quantitative and qualitative justification for automation.
Their analysis helps in prioritizing automation candidates and ensures that only those with strong business value proceed to the next stages. Without this step, organizations risk automating processes that do not deliver measurable value, undermining the long-term success of their automation programs.

NEW QUESTION # 37
What is the primary responsibility of an Infrastructure Engineer in the UiPath Automation Implementation Methodology?

- A. Developing automation workflows in Studio
- B. Creating the Process Design Document
- C. Managing User Acceptance Testing
- D. Supporting infrastructure-related issues and integrating the UiPath Platform

Answer: D

Explanation:
AnInfrastructure Engineerplays a critical role in UiPath automation implementations, especially during the Kickoff stage. Their primary responsibility is tosupport all infrastructure-related aspectsof the automation project. This includes setting up the necessary components of the UiPath Platform, such asOrchestrator, robots,Studio, and any required integrations with the client's internal systems.
Forexternal implementations, infrastructure engineers also coordinate with the client's IT and applications teams to ensure that UiPath can be successfully embedded into the client's environment. They address security configurations, access provisioning, software installation, and network requirements.

This role is billable and typically short-term but essential for enabling a technically sound foundation for the automation. Without proper setup, even the most well-designed automation cannot function as intended. The Infrastructure Engineer ensures that developers and robots have the access and infrastructure they need for development, UAT, and production environments.

- A. Automation Developer
- B. Business Analyst

Key responsibilities include:
* Ensuring the project is delivered on time and within scope
* Monitoring progress and milestones
* Managing stakeholder communication
* Facilitating resolution of technical or operational roadblocks
* Handling change requests and scope variations

NEW QUESTION # 39

Which of the following best describes how automation software robots operate?

- A. They require constant human supervision.
- B. They write code autonomously.
- C. They physically interact with machines to perform tasks.
- D. They mimic human actions to interact with digital systems and applications.

Answer: D

Explanation:
Automation software robots, particularly those built using UiPath, operate by mimicking human actions to interact with digital systems and applications. This includes actions such as clicking buttons, typing into fields, reading data from screens, extracting information from documents, navigating applications, and triggering system events. Their behavior is defined through automation workflows created by developers using tools like UiPath Studio.
These robots do not require constant supervision; unattended robots operate autonomously, while attended robots are triggered by users. They also do not interact physically with machines. Instead, they work entirely within virtual environments, desktops, and applications.
By replicating human behavior in digital workflows, robots can perform repetitive, rule-based tasks consistently, quickly, and without fatigue. This enables organizations to improve operational efficiency, reduce human error, increase accuracy, and free employees to focus on more strategic work.
Software robots do not write code on their own-developers design their workflows. However, with AI enhancements, they can assist in automation development. Still, their core functionality relies on executing predefined instructions that simulate human interaction with digital systems.
