NEW QUESTION # 167

Select the answer that correctly completes the sentence.

can be used to provide Microsoft Support Engineers with access to an organization's data stored in Microsoft Exchange Online, SharePoint Online, and OneDrive for Business.

- Customer Lockbox
- Information barriers
- Privileged Access Management (PAM)
- Sensitivity labels

Answer:

Explanation:

Explanation:

In Microsoft's Security, Compliance, and Identity materials, Customer Lockbox is described as the feature that controls any Microsoft engineer access to your tenant content during support operations. Microsoft states that Customer Lockbox "ensures that Microsoft cannot access your content to perform a service operation without your explicit approval." It is specifically applicable to Microsoft 365 workloads that store customer data, including "Exchange Online, SharePoint Online, and OneDrive for Business." When a support case requires elevated access, "a lockbox request is created and routed to the customer for approval or rejection," and access is only granted if the organization's authorized admin approves the request within the defined window. The request contains who is requesting access, the reason, the scope, and the duration, and all actions are audited for compliance reporting. This capability aligns with Microsoft's zero standing access principles by making engineer access time-bound, least-privileged, and customer-approved. By contrast, Information barriers segregate communications between groups, Privileged Access Management (PAM) governs privileged tasks inside Microsoft 365, and Sensitivity labels classify and protect data. Therefore, the feature that "can be used to provide Microsoft Support Engineers with access to an organization's data stored in Microsoft Exchange Online, SharePoint Online, and OneDrive for Business" is Customer Lockbox.
