Huawei HCSA-Presales-Storage V4.0 Sample Questions (Q73-Q78):

NEW QUESTION # 73

Which are the SAN types classified by architecture? (Select all that apply)

- A. IP SAN
- B. FC SAN
- C. Centralized SAN
- D. Distributed SAN

Answer: C,D

Explanation:

When classifying storage by its underlying architecture rather than its transmission protocol, Huawei distinguishes between two main structures. Centralized SAN (Option D) refers to the traditional controller-based array, such as the OceanStor Dorado or OceanStor Hybrid series. In this architecture, all storage resources are managed by a centralized pair or cluster of controllers within a single enclosure system. This provides high stability and specialized data services but has physical limits on the number of controllers and disks it can scale to.

Distributed SAN (Option B), such as the OceanStor Pacific (formerly FusionStorage), utilizes a scale-out architecture. It aggregates the local storage of multiple standard x86 or ARM servers into a massive, unified virtual storage pool. This architecture eliminates the bottlenecks of centralized controllers, allowing for near-infinite scalability in both performance and capacity by simply adding more nodes. While IP SAN and FC SAN are valid terms, they classify storage by the network protocol used (Ethernet/IP vs. Fibre Channel) rather than the organizational architecture of the storage system itself.

NEW QUESTION # 74

In safe city video storage scenarios, if a customer needs to deploy 10,000 cameras, which of the following Huawei NAS products is recommended?

- A. OceanStor hybrid flash storage NAS
- B. OceanStor Pacific
- C. FusionCube
- D. OceanStor Dorado NAS

Answer: B

Explanation:

OceanStor Pacific is designed for large-scale, high-capacity storage scenarios, such as safe city video storage, where vast amounts of unstructured video data are generated. It provides high scalability, performance, and cost-effectiveness, making it suitable for deployments involving thousands of cameras.

NEW QUESTION # 75

2200 V3 is an entry-level storage product targeting small- and medium-sized business (SMB) market. It can be used in a variety of scenarios, such as centralized storage, backup, video surveillance, databases.

- A. FALSE
- B. TRUE

Answer: B

NEW QUESTION # 76

When user A modifies a file in the NAS system, which of the following operations can user B perform on the file?

- A. File modification
- B. File reading
- C. File renaming
- D. File deletion

Answer: B

Explanation:

In Huawei OceanStor NAS systems, data consistency and integrity are maintained through a mechanism known as File Locking. When User A opens a file for modification (a write operation), the storage system applies a "Write Lock" or an "Exclusive Lock" to that specific file. This lock prevents other users from performing any actions that would alter the file's metadata or content, as these concurrent changes would lead to data corruption or "lost updates".

Consequently, File deletion (Option A), File modification (Option C), and File renaming (Option D) are all blocked because they require write-level access or changes to the file system's directory structure that conflict with the active lock held by User A.

However, File reading (Option B) is generally permitted unless User A has specifically requested an exclusive lock that bars all access. In standard CIFS/SMB and NFS configurations used by Huawei, multiple users can read a file while one user is writing, ensuring that information remains accessible without compromising the integrity of the file being updated.

NEW QUESTION # 77

OceanStor 9000 supports _____ editing of media?

- A. 20-layer 4K
- B. 6-layer 4K
- C. 10-layer 4K
- D. 2-layer 4K

Answer: B
