NEW QUESTION # 36

Which type of process is used to manufacture fuels, chemicals, and plastics?

- A. Continuous
- B. Batch
- C. Discrete

Answer: A

Explanation:

The manufacturing of fuels, chemicals, and plastics typically involves continuous processes (C), where raw materials flow continuously through reactors, mixers, or other equipment to produce the final product without interruption.

Discrete processes (A) deal with countable units like assembled products.

Batch processes (B) are run in defined lots or batches, common in pharmaceuticals or food production but not typical for fuels and chemicals.

GICSP emphasizes the need to understand process types to implement appropriate control and cybersecurity measures.

NEW QUESTION # 37

What is an output of a Business Impact Analysis?

- A. Determining the maximum time that systems can be offline
- B. Calculating the financial impact of a technology failure
- C. Understanding all of the business's technology functions
- D. Prioritizing the business's processes

Answer: D

Explanation:

Comprehensive and Detailed Explanation From Exact Extract:

A Business Impact Analysis (BIA) primarily produces a prioritization of the business's processes (B) based on their criticality and impact on organizational goals.

While BIAs help understand downtime tolerance (A) and financial impacts (C), prioritization is the core output guiding recovery efforts.

Understanding technology functions (D) is part of broader asset and risk management but not the primary BIA output.

GICSP highlights BIA as essential for aligning ICS recovery priorities with business needs.

- A. Bluetooth
- B. ISA100.11a
- C. Zigbee
- D. WirelessHART

Answer: A

Explanation:

Comprehensive and Detailed Explanation From Exact Extract:

Secure Simple Pairing (SSP) is a security feature used in Bluetooth technology (B) to provide improved authentication and encryption during device pairing.

Zigbee (A), WirelessHART (C), and ISA100.11a (D) use different security mechanisms adapted to industrial wireless environments and do not use SSP.

GICSP training covers Bluetooth SSP as part of wireless security protocols.

NEW QUESTION # 39

During a plant upgrade an architect needs to connect legacy IEDs to a new TCP/IP instrumentation LAN. The IEDs only have RS-232 communication interfaces available. What would best be used to connect the IEDs?

- A. Data diode
- B. Industrial switch
- C. Communications Gateway
- D. Engineering workstation

Answer: C

Explanation:

Legacy devices using RS-232 interfaces require a communications gateway (C) to translate between the serial communication protocol and the new TCP/IP network.

A data diode (A) is a unidirectional security device, not a protocol translator.

An engineering workstation (B) is a computer, not a protocol conversion device.

An industrial switch (D) operates at the Ethernet layer and does not perform protocol conversion.

GICSP emphasizes gateways as essential for integrating legacy ICS devices into modern IP networks while maintaining protocol integrity.

NEW QUESTION # 40

The head of an IT department sent a directive stating that all company communication must use TLS in order to prevent unauthorized disclosure of information. Which part of the C-IA model is the head of IT concerned with?

- A. Authorization
- B. Confidentiality
- C. Integrity
- D. Availability
- E. Identity

Answer: B

Explanation:

The use of TLS (Transport Layer Security) is intended to encrypt data in transit, thereby preventing unauthorized interception and disclosure.

This is primarily a concern with Confidentiality (D), ensuring information is only accessible to authorized parties.

Identity (A) and Authorization (C) involve user verification and access control but are not the main purpose of TLS.

Availability (B) concerns system uptime.

Integrity (D) ensures data is not altered but encryption mainly addresses confidentiality.

GICSP aligns TLS usage with protecting data confidentiality in ICS communications.
