CompTIA A+ Certification Exam: Core 2 Sample Questions (Q146-Q151):

NEW QUESTION # 146

A user is attempting to open on a mobile phone a HD video that is hosted on a popular media streaming website. The user is receiving connection timeout errors. The mobile reception icon area is showing two bars next to 3G. Which of the following is the most likely cause of the issue?

- A. The bandwidth is not fast enough.
- B. The user does not have Wi-Fi enabled.
- C. The website 's subscription has run out.
- D. The mobile device storage is full.

Answer: A

Explanation:

3G networks generally do not provide the bandwidth required for seamless HD video streaming. With only two signal bars and a 3G connection, the mobile device likely cannot maintain the necessary data throughput, resulting in timeouts or buffering failures. This is a classic symptom of insufficient network speed or signal strength.

A). Lack of Wi-Fi may contribute, but the root cause is the low mobile bandwidth, not the Wi-Fi state.

B). A website subscription lapse would return an account error, not a timeout.

D). Full device storage can affect downloads but not streaming from the internet.

NEW QUESTION # 147

A user is unable to use the latest version of an application on a legacy personal tablet. Which of the following is most likely the reason?

- A. The tablet is infected with malware.
- B. The OS is end-of-life.
- C. Storage space is inadequate.
- D. MDM is blocking updates.

Answer: B

Explanation:

The most likely reason a legacy tablet cannot run the latest version of an app is that the tablet's operating system is end-of-life (EOL) or otherwise too old to meet the app's supported OS/version requirements.

Quentin Docter explains that an OS life cycle ends when it is no longer supported, and that an OS at end-of-life will no longer receive updates (including feature updates), making it increasingly incompatible with modern software that expects newer OS frameworks and APIs. The All-in-One guide reinforces this by noting that apps may fail to launch or install when they are not compatible with the device's OS version (or related vendor customizations).

While insufficient storage can also prevent an update, that typically produces an "update failed/not enough space" condition rather than a consistent inability to use the latest version due to platform support; Mike Meyers' Lab Manual specifically calls out free space as a common cause of update failures. MDM restrictions and malware are possible but are less "most likely" for a personal legacy tablet.

References: Quentin Docter - CompTIA A+ Complete Study Guide (OS life cycle/EOL); Travis Everett & Andrew Hutz - CompTIA A+ All-in-One Exam Guide (app/OS compatibility); Mark Soper - Mike Meyers' A+ Lab Manual (update failures due to low storage).

NEW QUESTION # 148

A technician is assigned to offboard a user. Which of the following are common tasks on an offboarding checklist? (Choose two.)

- A. Deactivate the user's key fobs for door access.
- B. Suspend the user's email account.
- C. Quarantine the hard drive in the user's laptop.
- D. Add the MAC address of the user's computer to a blocklist.
- E. Turn off the network ports underneath the user's desk.

- F. Purge all PII associated with the user.

Answer: A,B

Explanation:

Key fobs (or badges) grant physical access to offices, server rooms, or secure areas. Disabling them prevents the former employee from entering the premises once their employment ends.

Suspend the user's email account

Email is often the gateway to corporate resources (password resets, sensitive communications, file sharing). Suspending the account immediately stops any further logins, prevents unauthorized access to archived emails, and blocks potential misuse.

NEW QUESTION # 149

Which of the following authentication methods is the best way to prevent users from frequently entering their credentials?

- A. One-time password
- B. Single sign-on
- C. Access control list
- D. Multifactor authentication

Answer: B

Explanation:

Single sign-on (SSO) allows users to authenticate once and gain access to multiple systems without re-entering credentials, which significantly enhances user convenience while maintaining security.

NEW QUESTION # 150

Why would a network engineering team provide a help desk technician with IP addresses for a wired network segment?

- A. NAC servers only allow security updates to be installed.
- B. DHCP is not enabled for this subnet.
- C. Only specific DNS servers are allowed outbound.
- D. The network allow list is set to a specific address.

Answer: B

Explanation:

When DHCP isn't enabled, static IPs must be assigned manually, so the engineering team provides the IP details.

From Travis Everett - All-in-One Exam Guide:

"If DHCP is unavailable, technicians need the static IP configuration to connect devices to the network."
