Appian Senior Developer Sample Questions (Q51-Q56):

NEW QUESTION # 51

You're designing a file upload process that integrates with an external document management system.

Part of this process is to develop a start form with a file upload component, so that the user can upload multiple files.

The business has requested that the maximum file size that can be uploaded through this process is 1GB.

Additionally, you're aware that the integration's API can accept files with a maximum file size of 3GB, but recommends no larger than 1GB.

Can the process be more performant without straining the application or integration?

- A. Yes. Request the business reconsiders its requirements and find manual workarounds as it is not recommended to upload files of this size in both Appian and the integration.
- B. Yes. Request the business allows for these files to be uploaded as an overnight process by storing large files in a staging table, so that adequate resources are available.
- C. No. The file upload component is capable of accepting 1 GB files and the integration can handle this.

Answer: B

Explanation:

While Appian and the integration technically support 1 GB file uploads, handling such large files during interactive sessions can negatively impact application performance, user experience, and resource utilization.

A better approach is to request that the business allow these files to be uploaded asynchronously (e.g., overnight batch process), by temporarily storing them (e.g., in a staging table or folder) and processing them when system load is lower. This makes the process more performant and reliable without straining Appian or the external system.

NEW QUESTION # 52

The synced record type Customer has a one-to-many relationship with the Case record type.

You need to calculate the number of open cases for each customer.

What are two valid methods to accomplish this? (Choose two.)

- A. Within the Case record type, edit the relationship to the Customer record and select the "Open" status as the grouping filter.
- B. Create a query expression for the Customer record type. Utilize the `a!measure()` function within the aggregation fields to count the related cases in the "Open" status.
- C. Within the Customer record type, create a custom field that evaluates in real-time to aggregate related record fields and count the open cases.
- D. Create a sync-time custom record field within the Customer record. Utilize the `a!relatedRecordData()` function to filter open cases and count the number of entries.

Answer: C,D

Explanation:

A real-time custom field in the Customer record type can aggregate and count related open cases.

A sync-time custom record field using `a!relatedRecordData()` can filter and count open cases, making the count available as a synced field.

NEW QUESTION # 53

You need to display information for pending tasks for each individual in an application. The tasks may be for a single specific application.

Which context type should you select for the Task Report Type?

- A. Tasks attributed to user
B Tasks by process
- B. Tasks by process model

Answer: A

Explanation:

"Tasks attributed to user" is the correct context type, as it allows you to display pending tasks assigned to each individual in the application.

NEW QUESTION # 54

You run a report on different employee transactions by using a View.

You encounter the following error: "a!queryEntity: An error occurred while retrieving the data." What is the most likely root cause of this error?

- A. The view doesn't have a column mapped as a primary key in its corresponding CDT.
- B. The rule contains a missing syntax.
- C. The view contains a large number of rows, requiring more time to fetch the data.

Answer: A

Explanation:

The most likely root cause is that the view doesn't have a column mapped as a primary key in its corresponding CDT. Appian requires a primary key mapping for querying views to ensure data integrity and identification.

NEW QUESTION # 55

You're creating a synced record type which will store read-only data from an external web service. Data in the external system is updated nightly, and the latest information must be available to users in the morning.

Currently there are approximately 150,000 entries in the external system, and this number is not expected to change significantly. There is an existing integration object and associated expression rule, which when called returns the complete dataset from the external system.

What are two configurations that you must apply to ensure that the latest and complete record set is available?

(Choose two.)

- A. Within the Source Filters settings on the record type, disable the row limit option so that all entries can be retrieved from the external system.
- B. Modify the integration object and associated expression rule to return batches of 1000 based on a batch number passed in from the record type.
- C. Set all record fields to evaluate in real-time so that the latest information is always retrieved from the web service.
- D. Within the record type, schedule a full sync to occur nightly after the data is refreshed in the external system.

Answer: A,D

Explanation:

Scheduling a nightly full sync ensures the record type is updated with the latest data after the external system refreshes.

Disabling the row limit in Source Filters allows the complete dataset to be retrieved and synced, ensuring all entries are available.
