Dim Colors As New List(Of String)

This means that the list is named Colors and it can store strings. The Invoke Method activity has the following properties:

TargetType: System.Collections.Generic.List`1[System.String]. This means that the target type is a generic list of strings.

TargetObject: Colors. This means that the target object is the list named Colors.

MethodName: Add. This means that the method name is Add, which is a method of the list class that adds an item to the end of the list.

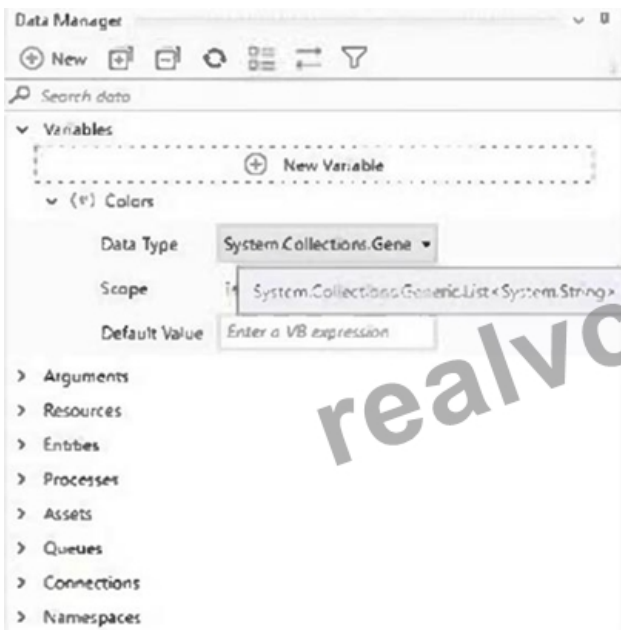

Parameters: In, String, Yellow. This means that the parameter direction is In, which means that the value is passed to the method.

The parameter type is String, which means that the value is a string. The parameter value is Yellow, which means that the value is the string "Yellow".

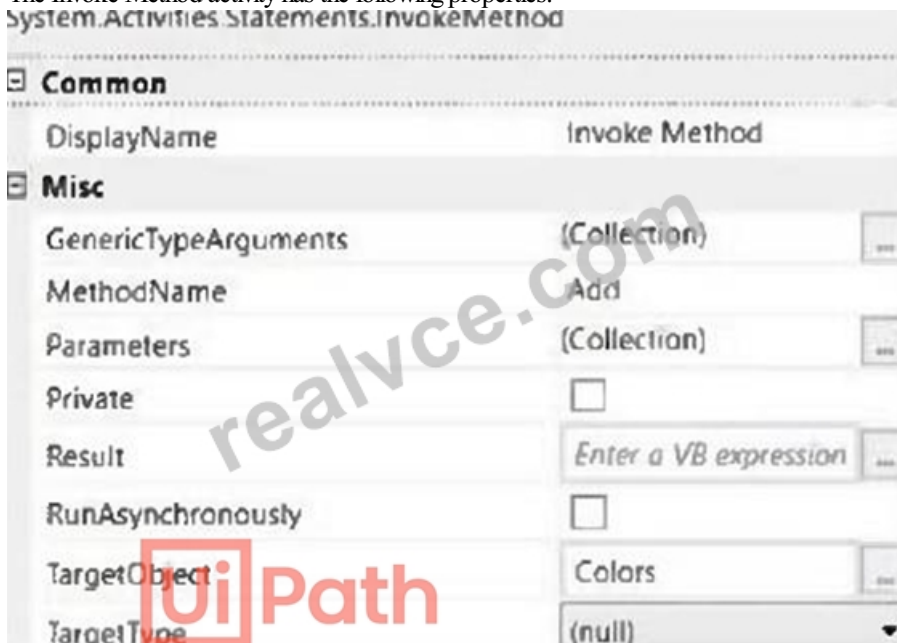

Based on the information shown in the exhibits, the outcome of the Invoke Method activity is that Colors will contain an item with the value "Yellow". This is because the Invoke Method activity will add "Yellow" to the list of strings declared as Colors.

NEW QUESTION # 152

A developer is working on an automation using the REFramework. Each transaction item represents a piece of client information. For each customer, the automated procedure must click the "Generate Shipment Details" button. This generates a table of shipment records for each customer.

What type of exception occurs when the data is not accessible, the created table displays only the header row, and processing for that client must be halted?

- A. BusinessException
- B. ApplicationException
- C. NullReferenceException
- D. SystemException

Answer: A

Explanation:

When the data is not accessible, the created table displays only the header row, and processing for that client must be halted, a BusinessException occurs. A BusinessException is a type of exception that indicates a business logic error or a validation error that cannot be resolved by retrying the transaction. For example, if the input data is incorrect, incomplete, or outdated, a BusinessException should be thrown. A BusinessException can be thrown by using the Throw activity with the following expression:

VB New BusinessException("Message") where Message is a string that describes the error. A BusinessException can be caught by using the Catch activity with the following expression:

VB ex As BusinessException where ex is a variable that stores the exception object. A BusinessException can be handled differently from other types of exceptions, such as SystemException or ApplicationException, depending on the logic of the automation. For example, in the REFramework, a BusinessException sets the status of the transaction item to Failed and does not retry the transaction, whereas a SystemException sets the status of the transaction item to Retry and retries the transaction up to a specified number of times. References: [BusinessRuleException], [Throw], [Catch], [REFramework]
