CompTIA Linux+ Certification Exam Sample Questions (Q347-Q352):

NEW QUESTION # 347

A systems administrator is tasked with preventing logins from accounts other than root, while the file /etc/nologin exists. Which of the following PAM modules will accomplish this task?

- A. pam_access.so
- B. pam_login.so
- C. pam_nologin.so
- D. pam_logindef.so

Answer: C

Explanation:

The PAM module pam_nologin.so will prevent logins from accounts other than root, while the file /etc/nologin exists. This module checks for the existence of the file /etc/nologin and displays its contents to the user before denying access. The root user is exempt from this check and can still log in.

NEW QUESTION # 348

A systems administrator is tasked with creating a cloud-based server with a public IP address.

□ Which of the following technologies did the systems administrator use to complete this task?

- A. Git
- B. Ansible
- C. Puppet
- D. Terraform

Answer: D

Explanation:

Explanation

The systems administrator used Terraform to create a cloud-based server with a public IP address. Terraform is a tool for building, changing, and versioning infrastructure as code. Terraform can create and manage resources on different cloud platforms, such as AWS, Azure, or Google Cloud. Terraform uses a declarative syntax to describe the desired state of the infrastructure and applies the changes accordingly. Terraform can also assign a public IP address to a cloud server by using the appropriate resource attributes. This is the correct technology that the systems administrator used to complete the task. The other options are incorrect because they are either not designed for creating cloud servers (Puppet or Git) or not capable of assigning public IP addresses (Ansible). ### NEW QUESTION # 349

A cloud engineer is asked to copy the file deployment.yaml from a container to the host where the container is running. Which of the following commands can accomplish this task?

- A. docker cp container_id/deployment.yaml deployment.yaml
- B. docker cp container_id/deployment.yaml local://deployment.yaml
- C. docker cp deployment.yaml local://deployment.yaml
- D. docker cp container_id/deployment.yaml deployment.yaml

Answer: A

Explanation:

The command docker cp container_id/deployment.yaml deployment.yaml can accomplish the task of copying the file deployment.yaml from a container to the host. The docker command is a tool for managing Docker containers and images. The cp option copies files or directories between a container and the local filesystem. The container_id is the identifier of the container, which can be obtained by using the docker ps command. The /deployment.yaml is the path of the file in the container, which must be preceded by a slash. The deployment.yaml is the path of the file on the host, which can be relative or absolute. The command docker cp container_id/deployment.yaml deployment.yaml will copy the file deployment.yaml from the container to the current working directory on the host. This is the correct command to use to accomplish the task. The other options are incorrect because they either use the wrong syntax (docker cp container_id/deployment.yaml deployment.yaml or docker cp container_id/deployment.yaml local://deployment.yaml) or do not exist (docker cp deployment.yaml local://deployment.yaml). ### NEW QUESTION # 350

An administrator is investigating why a Linux workstation is not resolving a website. The output of dig and nslookup shows that IPv4 resolution is working, but IPv6 resolution fails.

The administrator executes:

nslookup -querytype=AAAA www.comptia.org

Can't find www.comptia.org: No answer

The workstation has a static entry in /etc/hosts:

104.18.99.101 www.comptia.org

Which of the following is the most likely cause?

- A. The remote website does not support IPv6, and the workstation requires it.
- B. The firewall needs to be modified to allow outbound HTTP and HTTPS.
- C. The static entry needs to be removed from /etc/hosts.
- D. The nameserver in /etc/resolv.conf needs to be updated to 8.8.8.8.

Answer: C

Explanation:

The presence of a static entry in /etc/hosts for www.comptia.org forces the system to use this IP address instead of querying DNS. This prevents proper IPv6 (AAAA) resolution, as /etc/hosts only contains an IPv4 (A) record.

Removing this static entry allows the system to query DNS for both IPv4 and IPv6 records.

NEW QUESTION # 351

A Linux system fails to start and delivers the following error message:

Which of the following commands can be used to address this issue?

- A. fdisk /dev/sda1
- B. fsck.ext4 /dev/sda1
- C. mkfs.ext4 /dev/sda1
- D. partprobe /dev/sda1

Answer: B

Explanation:

Explanation

The command fsck.ext4 /dev/sda1 can be used to address the issue. The issue is caused by a corrupted filesystem on the /dev/sda1 partition. The error message shows that the filesystem type is ext4 and the superblock is invalid. The command fsck.ext4 is a tool for checking and repairing ext4 filesystems. The command will scan the partition for errors and attempt to fix them. This command can resolve the issue and allow the system to start. The other options are incorrect because they either do not fix the filesystem (partprobe or fdisk) or destroy the data on the partition (mkfs.ext4).
