Answer:

Explanation:

Explanation:

Let's analyze each scenario based on the given retention policies and Microsoft 365 documentation.

Policies Recap

Policy1

Teams channel messages # All Teams # Retain 7 years # Delete automatically.

Teams chats # User1 # Retain 7 years # Delete automatically.

Policy2

Teams channel messages # Team1 # Retain 5 years # Delete automatically.

Teams chats # User2 # Retain 5 years # Delete automatically.

Reference: Retention policies in Microsoft Teams

Statement 1: The message edited by User1 will be deleted after five years.

Location = Team1 channel.

Policy1 applies (7 years for all Teams).

Policy2 applies (5 years for Team1).

Conflict rule: For retention, the longest duration wins.

Therefore, the message stays 7 years, not 5.

Answer: NO

Statement 2: User1 can see the message sent by User2 for up to seven years.

Location = Private 1:1 chat (User2 # User1).

For User1's mailbox: Policy1 applies (7 years).

For User2's mailbox: Policy2 applies (5 years).

Retention in Teams chats is per-user, so each participant may have different durations.

For User1, the retention is 7 years.

Answer: YES

Statement 3: The message deleted by User1 will be moved to the SubstrateHolds folder.

Location = Team2 channel.

User1 deletes the message, but retention policy (Policy1) applies (7 years).

Retention overrides user deletion: message is moved to the SubstrateHolds folder in the hidden mailbox for preservation.

NOTE: Each correct selection is worth one point.

- A. The Copy to clipboard action is set to Audit only.

If they are using a browser that is listed in DLP as an unallowed browser, the upload activity will be blocked and the user is redirected to use Microsoft Edge . Microsoft Edge will then either allow or block the upload or access based on the DLP policy configuration So if unallowed browser is NOT configured you can use chrome/etc with impunity and won't be kicked over to edge which observes the DLP policy, in other words, sometimes can upload (chrome), sometimes can not (edge).
