NEW QUESTION # 24

What is the result of a Business Rule Exception in the processing transaction state of a UiPath REFramework model?

- A. The exception needs to be analyzed and verified by a person and the transaction isn't retried
- B. The process stops after three consecutive business rule exceptions

- C. The transaction item is automatically retried
- D. The process continues to the next transaction item without any intervention

Answer: A

Explanation:

In the UiPath REFramework, a Business Rule Exception signals a process-level issue that prevents successful processing of the transaction. It's captured in the "Process Transaction" state. According to the REFramework documentation:

"Business Rule Exceptions are not retried because they are considered errors in the business logic or input data that need to be verified by a person (manual intervention)." So, unlike System Exceptions (which can trigger retries), Business Rule Exceptions go to the "Set Transaction Status" state as "Failed", and no retries are attempted for that transaction item.

- F. Use the Task Capture recorder to record the step-by-step actions in the process
- G. a. Build diagram from scratch
- H. a. Build diagram from scratch

Answer: E

Explanation:

UiPath Task Capture provides two primary methods for documenting processes:

1. Build diagram from scratch: This method allows you to manually create a workflow diagram that outlines all the necessary actions in the process.

2. Use the Task Capture recorder to record the step-by-step actions in the process: With this method, you run through the process while Task Capture automatically captures your actions, takes screenshots with each mouse click, and builds a workflow diagram based on the collected data.

These methods enable the creation of detailed process documentation that can be used for further analysis and automation development.

NEW QUESTION # 27

How can attended process execution be scheduled?

- A. Both from Assistant and Orchestrator
- B. Only from Assistant
- C. They cannot be scheduled but users can set reminders

- D. Only from Orchestrator

Answer: C

Explanation:

Attended process execution in UiPath cannot be scheduled in the same way as unattended processes.

However, users can set reminders using the UiPath Assistant. While the Assistant allows for reminders to be set, it does not schedule the process to run automatically. The user must manually start the process after being reminded. This is in contrast to unattended processes, which can be scheduled to run automatically at specified times through the Orchestrator<sup>12</sup>.

References: The explanation is based on the UiPath Community Forum discussions and the UiPath Documentation Portal's information on scheduling processes<sup>12</sup>.

This is crucial because it allows the design team to plan and prepare for various testing scenarios that can validate the automation's functionality and efficiency before moving into development and deployment.
