Microsoft Agentic AI Business Solutions Architect Sample Questions (Q45-Q50):

NEW QUESTION # 45

A company has a Microsoft Power Platform solution that contains the following components:

- * Microsoft Dataverse tables
  - * A Microsoft Power BI workspace named WS1
  - * A canvas app named App1 that uses Dataverse
  - * A Power BI semantic model that connects to Dataverse by using DirectQuery You plan to use generative AI to provide answers to queries based on a subset of corporate data. You need to ensure that the data is available as a grounding data source for AI systems. What should you do?
- A. Endorse the semantic model.
  - B. Export the semantic model.
  - C. Share WS1.
  - D. Populate a Dataverse table.

Answer: A

Explanation:

The goal is to use generative AI to answer questions based on a subset of corporate data , and to ensure that this data is available as a grounding data source .

The solution includes:

- * Dataverse tables
- * a Power BI workspace
- * a canvas app
- * a Power BI semantic model using DirectQuery to Dataverse

The best action is D. Endorse the semantic model.

Why D is correct:

- * Endorsing a semantic model makes it a trusted, discoverable enterprise data asset
- * It is the appropriate step when you want approved corporate data to be used reliably by downstream AI and analytics experiences
- * It fits the requirement of exposing a curated subset of data as a grounding source rather than duplicating or manually exporting it

Why the other options are not correct:

- * A. Export the semantic model Exporting does not make it a governed grounding source.
- * B. Share WS1 Sharing the workspace grants access, but it does not establish the semantic model itself as the trusted data source for grounding.
- * C. Populate a Dataverse table The data already exists and is modeled through the semantic layer; creating another table is unnecessary for this requirement.

NEW QUESTION # 46

You need to recommend a security solution for agents in a Microsoft Power Platform environment.

The agents must use only approved connectors and services. The solution must prevent the agents from accessing sensitive data. What should you recommend?

- A. Enable a Microsoft Dataverse audit.
- B. Deploy data loss prevention (DLP) policies in Power Platform.
- C. Configure Azure Monitor to capture connector activity logs.
- D. Enable customer-managed keys in Microsoft Dataverse.

Answer: B

Explanation:

The requirement is to secure agents in a Microsoft Power Platform environment so that they:

- * use only approved connectors and services
- * are prevented from accessing sensitive data

The correct recommendation is B. Deploy data loss prevention (DLP) policies in Power Platform.

Why B is correct:

DLP policies in Power Platform are specifically designed to control which connectors can be used together and which services are allowed in an environment. They help administrators classify connectors as business or non-business and restrict unsafe data flows.

This directly supports both requirements:

- * limiting agents to approved connectors/services
  - * preventing data from being exposed through unapproved or risky connector usage
- Why the other options are not correct:
- * A. Enable customer-managed keys in Microsoft Dataverse This helps with encryption control, not with restricting connector usage or preventing data movement through agents.

- * C. Configure Azure Monitor to capture connector activity logs Monitoring logs is useful for visibility, but it does not enforce connector restrictions or prevent sensitive data access.
- * D. Enable a Microsoft Dataverse audit Auditing records activity after the fact. It does not proactively block unapproved connectors or sensitive data exposure.

NEW QUESTION # 47

A company plans to implement an AI business solution for a consumer goods company.

You need to create agents that meet the following requirements:

- * Orchestrate the sales order fulfillment and shipping of goods to customers.
- * Analyze historical data and trends to replenish stock.

Which type of agent should you use for each requirement? To answer, drag the appropriate agent types to the correct requirements. Each agent type may be used once, more than once, or not at all. You may need to drag the split bar between panes or scroll to view content.

NOTE: Each correct selection is worth one point.

Answer:

Explanation:

Explanation:

This question separates two different kinds of agent behavior.

For orchestrating sales order fulfillment and shipping , the best fit is an Autonomous agent. That requirement involves coordinating multiple steps, making decisions across a process, and driving execution across a workflow with limited manual intervention. Autonomous agents are designed for this kind of end-to- end orchestration.

For analyzing historical data and trends to replenish stock , the best fit is a Task agent. This requirement is more focused and bounded: analyze data, identify patterns, and support a specific business function. That aligns with a task-oriented agent rather than a broad orchestration agent.

Why Prompt-and-response is not the best answer here:

- * It is better suited for direct user query/answer interactions
- * It is not the strongest fit for process orchestration or structured business analysis workflows

NEW QUESTION # 48

A company has a Microsoft Copilot Studio agent that uses generative AI to assist Microsoft Dynamics 365 Customer Service representatives. The agent currently exhibits a low resolution rate and a high escalation rate. You need to identify the issue. What should you use?

- A. the Copilot hub in the Power Platform admin center
- B. the Analytics tab in Copilot Studio
- C. the Insights tab from the Search & intelligence settings of the Microsoft 365 admin center
- D. the Agent dashboard of Dynamics 365 Customer Service historical analytics

Answer: B

Explanation:

The scenario is about a Microsoft Copilot Studio agent with:

- * low resolution rate
- * high escalation rate

To identify the issue, the most appropriate place is the Analytics tab in Copilot Studio , which is built specifically to evaluate agent performance, conversation outcomes, escalation behavior, and content quality.

Why D is correct:

- * It provides agent-specific operational insights
- * It helps diagnose patterns behind poor resolution and excessive escalation
- * It is the native monitoring surface for deployed Copilot Studio agents

Why the other options are not correct:

- * A. Insights tab in Microsoft 365 admin center is not the primary place for diagnosing a Copilot Studio agent's conversation performance
- * B. Copilot hub in the Power Platform admin center is more administrative/governance-oriented than agent troubleshooting-focused
- * C. Agent dashboard of Dynamics 365 Customer Service historical analytics is tied to Customer Service analytics, but the question asks generally about a Copilot Studio agent , so the direct tool is Copilot Studio analytics

NEW QUESTION # 49

Scenario: Your organization wants to empower different teams with custom AI agents using Microsoft Copilot Studio. Some teams only need simple, personal productivity agents based on SharePoint content, while others need enterprise-grade agents that integrate with back-end systems and require full lifecycle governance. Leadership asks you to identify the scenarios where each Copilot Studio experience-Lite or Full-would be the correct choice.

Which three of the following scenarios align with Microsoft's recommended use cases for choosing either the Lite or Full Copilot Studio experience? (Choose three)

- A. An enterprise wants to deploy an agent to thousands of external customers and requires controlled release management and secure integration with line-of-business systems
- B. A small project team needs an agent for summarizing emails and FAQs, created directly within the Microsoft 365 Copilot app
- C. A manager wants to quickly build a personal agent that answers questions using their team's internal SharePoint files-without needing complex workflows
- D. A company wants to experiment with AI by enabling all employees to create agents without any governance or lifecycle management controls
- E. A department needs an agent that uses multi-step workflows and connects to a custom CRM via APIs for large-scale deployment across the organization

Answer: A,C,E

Explanation:

A manager wants to quickly build a personal agent that answers questions using their team's internal SharePoint files-without needing complex workflows is correct because This scenario perfectly describes a use case for Copilot Studio Lite. Lite is designed for individual users or small teams to quickly create simple, personal productivity copilots, often leveraging Microsoft 365 content (like SharePoint) without requiring deep technical skills or complex integrations.

A department needs an agent that uses multi-step workflows and connects to a custom CRM via APIs for large-scale deployment across the organization is correct because This scenario aligns with the capabilities and target audience of the Full Copilot Studio experience. Building multi-step workflows, connecting to custom APIs (like a CRM), and preparing for large-scale organizational deployment are advanced features that require the comprehensive environment and governance capabilities of the Full Studio.

An enterprise wants to deploy an agent to thousands of external customers and requires controlled release management and secure integration with line-of-business systems is correct because This is a prime example of a scenario demanding the Full Copilot Studio experience.

Deploying to external customers at scale, requiring controlled release processes, and ensuring secure integration with core business systems (which often involves complex connectors and security configurations) are all advanced requirements best met by the robust features of Full Copilot Studio.
