NEW QUESTION # 34

An HPE Aruba Networking Central switch is managed in HPE Aruba Networking Central. If you need to validate configuration changes in the switch's Global view, what information can you get using the Audit trail?

- A. The configuration changes history is up to 7 years.
- B. The method used to create the configuration (template, multi-edit, or GUI).
- C. The configuration difference that was pushed to the device.
- D. The username of the person who pushed the configuration.

Answer: D

Explanation:

The Audit Trail in HPE Aruba Networking Central serves as the primary ledger for compliance and accountability across the entire managed estate.

* Accountability (The "Who"): The fundamental purpose of an audit trail is to provide a record of "who, what, and when." When a configuration is modified-whether it's a VLAN change, a port shutdown, or a global routing update-the Audit Trail logs the Username of the administrator or the API key identity that initiated the task.

* Validating Changes: In the Global view, the Audit Trail allows a Lead Engineer to verify that changes were authorized. If a network outage occurs, the trail is used to correlate the timing of the outage with the specific user who pushed the last set of changes.

* Evaluating Other Options:

* Option A: Central typically retains Audit Trail data for up to 90 days (standard) or longer with specific data retention subscriptions, but 7 years is not the standard architectural default for these logs.

* Option B: While you can see that a "Config Push" occurred, the detailed Configuration Difference (the "Diff") is usually viewed in the Configuration Status or Audit Event Details page, rather than being the primary defining attribute of the basic Audit Trail list.

* Option C: The Audit Trail identifies the action (e.g., "Update Switch Configuration"), but it doesn't always distinguish the specific UI workflow (like Multi-edit vs. Standard GUI) used within the Central platform.

* Key Exam Tip: Whenever you see "Audit Trail" in an Aruba exam, think Accountability. It is the tool used to track administrator actions.
