Juniper Junos, Associate (JNCIA-Junos) Sample Questions (Q92-Q97):

NEW QUESTION # 92
Which two statements are correct about Junos traceoptions? (Choose two.)

- A. Traceoptions are enabled through configuration.
- B. Traceoption output, by default, is stored in /var/iog/<fiie-name>.
- C. Traceoptions cannot be enabled in a production environment.
- D. Traceoptions are enabled by default.

Answer: A,B

Explanation:
Traceoptions in Junos OS are used for detailed debugging and troubleshooting of protocols and processes within the system. They are not enabled by default due to the potential performance impact and volume of data generated. Instead, traceoptions are enabled through specific configuration settings under the relevant protocol or process hierarchy. This allows administrators to target their troubleshooting efforts and control the scope of logging. By default, the output generated by traceoptions is stored in files located in the /var/log directory, with the file name typically specified in the traceoptions configuration. This structured approach to logging and debugging helps in diagnosing complex issues without overwhelming the system or the administrator with irrelevant data.

NEW QUESTION # 93
Which two actions happen when multiple users issue the configure exclusive command to enter configuration mode on a Junos device? (Choose two.)

- A. The candidate configuration is unlocked.
- B. Other users can enter configuration mode.
- C. The candidate configuration is locked.
- D. Other users cannot enter configuration mode.

Answer: D

Explanation:
When a user enters configuration mode using theconfigure exclusivecommand on a Junos device, the candidate configuration is locked for that user, preventing other users from making concurrent configuration changes. This exclusive lock ensures that only one user can make changes at a time, preventing conflicts and potential errors from simultaneous modifications. Other users attempting to enter configuration mode while it is locked will receive a notification that the configuration is currently being edited by another user.

NEW QUESTION # 94
Which two common routing policy actions affect the flow of policy evaluation? (Choose two.)

- A. community
- B. next term
- C. next hop
- D. next policy

Answer: B,D

Explanation:
In Junos OS routing policy evaluation, "next policy" (A) and "next term" (C) are common actions that affect the flow of policy evaluation. "Next policy" directs the evaluation to the next policy in the sequence, whereas
"next term" moves the evaluation to the next term within the current policy, allowing for granular control over routing decisions.

NEW QUESTION # 95
Which two components are included in a transport header? (Choose two.)

- A. destination MAC address
- B. destination port number
- C. source MAC address
- D. source port number

Answer: B,D

Explanation:
The transport layer in the OSI model is responsible for end-to-end communication and error recovery. In a transport header, such as TCP or UDP, the key components include the source port number and the destination port number. These port numbers are used to identify sending and receiving applications. The source port number indicates the port of the sending application, and the destination port number refers to the port of the receiving application. MAC addresses, on the other hand, are part of the data link layer (Layer 2) and would be included in an Ethernet header, not a transport header.

NEW QUESTION # 96
Which protocol is responsible for learning an IPv4 neighbor's MAC address?

- A. Media Access Control Security (MACsec)
- B. Network Address Translation (NAT)
- C. Address Resolution Protocol (ARP)
- D. Neighbor Discovery Protocol (NDP)

Answer: C

Explanation:
The Address Resolution Protocol (ARP) is a fundamental protocol used in IPv4 networking to map an IP address to its corresponding MAC (Media Access Control) address. When an IPv4 device wants to communicate with another device on the same local network, it uses ARP to find out the MAC address associated with the target device's IP address. This ensures that IP packets can be encapsulated into Ethernet frames and delivered to the correct hardware address on the local network segment. ARP does not apply to IPv6, where Neighbor Discovery Protocol (NDP) performs a similar function.
