ISTQB Certified Tester Usability Tester Sample Questions (Q31-Q36):

NEW QUESTION # 31

Usability reviews aim to identify potential usability problems based on certain criteria. Which of the following is a reasonable criterion for a usability review?

- A. Functional requirements
- B. Usability standards
- C. Statutory Code of Practice
- D. Opinion of the management

Answer: B

Explanation:
Usability reviews evaluate a system or interface against established usability principles or standards to identify potential issues before user testing. A recognized criterion for such reviews includes adherence to usability standards such as ISO 9241 or the Web Content Accessibility Guidelines (WCAG). These standards are derived from years of research and user-centered design principles. Options A and C do not directly relate to usability. Functional requirements (option B) refer to what the system should do, not how usable it is.
Hence, option D is correct as usability standards provide a consistent, objective basis for evaluating usability.

NEW QUESTION # 32
Which of the following is the highest WCAG conformance level, promising the most accessible content?

- A. Single A (A)
- B. Double A (AA)
- C. Quadruple A (AAAA)
- D. Triple A (AAA)

Answer: D

Explanation:
The Web Content Accessibility Guidelines (WCAG) define three levels of conformance for web content accessibility:
Level A (Single A) is the minimum level of compliance.
Level AA (Double A) is the standard recommended for most websites, balancing accessibility and design.
Level AAA (Triple A) is the highest and most comprehensive level of accessibility, covering the widest range of needs.
There is no such level as "Quadruple A (AAAA)," making option D invalid.
Thus, WCAG Triple A (AAA) promises the most accessible content, even though it may not always be practically achievable for all types of content.

NEW QUESTION # 33
A "usability test participant" ...

- A. ... helps to set up the system used for the usability test.
- B. ... is a representative user who solves typical tasks in a usability test.
- C. ... can be the organizer of a usability test.
- D. ... is a person who observes a usability test.

Answer: B

Explanation:
A usability test participant is a person selected to represent the target user group and asked to perform specific tasks in a usability test. Their actions, reactions, and feedback help identify usability issues and evaluate the system's effectiveness, efficiency, and user satisfaction. This role is strictly observational and does not involve organizing, observing, or setting up the test. Options A, B, and C describe other roles (e.g., technical support, observers, or moderators). Only option D accurately reflects the definition of a usability test participant.

NEW QUESTION # 34

What does the Equality Act address?

- A. It protects people from discrimination in the workplace and in wider society
- B. It obligates organizations to make sites accessible at all costs
- C. It states that websites have to adhere to the WCAG conformity level AA
- D. It states that websites have to adhere to the WCAG conformity level A

Answer: A

Explanation:
The Equality Act 2010 (UK) is legislation designed to protect individuals from discrimination in various areas, including employment and access to goods and services-this includes digital products like websites.
While it does not directly mandate WCAG compliance levels (A or AA), it implies that digital services must be accessible to users with disabilities. Organizations are required to make "reasonable adjustments" to avoid discrimination. Therefore, the most accurate and comprehensive answer is B.

NEW QUESTION # 35

Which of the following is the correct distinction between formative and summative usability evaluation?

- A. Summative evaluations mostly rely on experts, formative evaluations require users
- B. Summative evaluations mostly rely on user tests, formative evaluations require experts
- C. Summative evaluations assess the outcome, formative evaluations focus on improvement
- D. Summative evaluations focus on improvement, formative evaluations assess the outcome

Answer: C

Explanation:
Formative usability evaluation is conducted during the development process to identify usability problems and improve the product iteratively. It is diagnostic and improvement-focused. Summative evaluation, on the other hand, is done after development to assess the final product's usability, measuring how well it meets defined usability goals. Therefore, the correct distinction is that formative evaluation focuses on improvement, and summative evaluation assesses the outcome. This distinction aligns with widely accepted models such as those defined by ISO 9241-210 and usability.gov.
