VMware Avi Load Balancer 30.x Administrator Sample Questions (Q203-Q208):

NEW QUESTION # 203

After deploying a new Avi Controller OVA, the vSphere Administrator powers on the virtual machine. The administrator observes the following messages on the VM console.

[ OK ] Started Network Service.

[ OK ] Reached target Network.

[ OK ] Reached target Network is Online.

Welcome to Avi Vantage

(none) login:

The administrator is unable to log in with the default credentials they found online. What is the most likely reason for this issue?

- A. The default password has expired and must be reset from vCenter.
- B. The controller's firewall is blocking SSH and console access.
- C. The controller is still running initial setup scripts and is not ready for login.
- D. The controller has booted into a recovery or emergency mode.

Answer: C

NEW QUESTION # 204

An application team reports intermittent HTTP 503 "Service Unavailable" errors. An Avi administrator reviews the Virtual Service analytics and sees the following information.

- Health Score: 70
- Performance Score: 95
- Resource Score: 25
- Anomaly Score: 90
- Security Score: 100
- Pool: app-pool-prod
- Server `10.10.1.5`: UP
- Server `10.10.1.6`: DOWN (Health Monitor: tcp-hm failed)
- Server `10.10.1.7`: DOWN (Health Monitor: tcp-hm failed)

Based on these analytics, what are the most likely causes of the user-reported errors? (Choose 2.)

- A. Two of the three backend servers in the pool are failing their health checks and are marked down.
- B. The WAF policy is too restrictive and is blocking valid requests.
- C. The application is responding slowly, causing performance degradation.
- D. There is high network latency between clients and the Service Engines.
- E. The remaining active server (10.10.1.5) is overloaded with traffic that would normally be distributed to three servers.

Answer: A,E

NEW QUESTION # 205

An application team has enabled a new WAF policy on their Virtual Service. They are concerned about the volume of logs being generated. They want to see logs for all blocked traffic and a 10% sample of allowed traffic, but they want to completely exclude all logs generated by their corporate vulnerability scanner. Which combination of Avi features is required to implement this specific logging policy? (Select all that apply.)

- A. Create an HTTP Request Policy with a rule to match the scanner's source IP and an action to "Disable WAF".
- B. Enable "Client Log Streaming" to a null endpoint.
- C. Configure the Analytics Profile with "Throttling" for Non-Significant logs.
- D. Set the WAF policy to 'Detection' mode.
- E. Configure the Analytics Profile to "Log all requests".
- F. Create a WAF Allowlist rule for the source IP of the vulnerability scanner.

Answer: A,C

NEW QUESTION # 206

A Security Administrator is configuring a policy to add an HSTS (HTTP Strict Transport Security) header to all HTTPS responses to improve security. Which policy type and execution point should be used?

- A. An HTTP Request Policy
- B. A DNS Policy
- C. A Network Security Policy
- D. An HTTP Response Policy

Answer: D

NEW QUESTION # 207

Which WAF inspection method is the most computationally expensive?

- A. Mode Delegation
- B. Signature

- C. Positive Security
- D. Allow List

Answer: C

Explanation:

Avi WAF supports several inspection methods, including signature-based protection, allow-list style controls, and Positive Security. Positive Security is more computationally expensive because it validates application behavior against learned or configured rules that define what is explicitly allowed. This requires deeper inspection and more rule evaluation than simply matching known attack signatures. Signature inspection generally compares requests against known malicious patterns, while Positive Security evaluates whether requests conform to permitted application behavior. VMware Avi WAF documentation describes Positive Security and learning as a deeper application security method. Because it performs more detailed validation of acceptable behavior, it consumes more processing resources than the other listed methods. Therefore, the most computationally expensive inspection method is Positive Security.
