NEW QUESTION # 12

When importing data through the Data Import Wizard, if you choose the Import Type as "Update Existing Records", which of the following is true?

- A. Matching records will be discarded and unmatched records will be added as new records.
- B. A number of the matching records will be updated.
- C. Matching records will be updated and unmatched records will be discarded.
- D. Matching records will be updated and unmatched records will be added as new records.

Answer: C

NEW QUESTION # 13

Dynamic Filtering can be found in which of the following areas? Select all that apply:

- A. Record Lookup
- B. Advanced Search
- C. Calculated Cross Reference
- D. Report Object

Answer: A,C,D

Explanation:

Dynamic Filtering is a sophisticated feature that allows Archer to filter data based on the context of the current record or the current user. In Archer Administration II, this is highlighted as a tool for improving the user experience by reducing "data noise."

* Record Lookup (A): Allows you to filter the available records in a lookup based on a value in the current record (e.g., only show "Users" that belong to the "Department" selected on the form).

* Calculated Cross Reference (B): Uses dynamic logic to automatically link records based on matching field values.

* Report Object (C): When a report is placed on a record as a "Record-Level Report," Dynamic Filtering ensures the report only shows data related to that specific record (e.g., showing only "Findings" related to "Asset A" when viewing Asset A).

Advanced Search (D) does NOT support Dynamic Filtering in the same "contextual" sense; Advanced Searches use static filters or "Current User" filters, but they do not dynamically react to field values in a specific source record during the search build process like the other three objects.

NEW QUESTION # 14

What should you do if the LDAP status remains QUEUED for an extended period?

- A. Restart the server
- B. Ensure the Archer LDAP synchronization service is running
- C. Check the network connection
- D. Reconfigure the LDAP settings

Answer: B

Explanation:

In the Archer environment, LDAP synchronization is an asynchronous process managed by the Archer Support Tools and specific Windows services. When an administrator triggers a manual LDAP sync or a scheduled sync begins, the job is placed into a processing queue within the Archer database. If the status remains "QUEUED" and never progresses to "IN PROGRESS" or "COMPLETED," the primary culprit is almost always the underlying service responsible for picking up that task.

As detailed in the Archer Administration II technical troubleshooting modules, the Archer LDAP Synchronization Service (or in newer versions, the Archer Queuing/Job Engine service) must be in a

"Started" state on the web or application server to process these requests. If the service is stopped, hung, or crashed, the job will sit in the queue indefinitely. While network connections (Option C) and configuration settings (Option A) are important, they typically result in an "FAILED" status with an error log rather than a

"QUEUED" status. Restarting the entire server (Option B) is an inefficient "last resort" that doesn't address the specific root cause as directly as verifying the service status in the Services console.

NEW QUESTION # 15

The default authentication mechanism in Archer is SSO.

- A. FALSE
- B. TRUE

Answer: A

Explanation:

This statement is FALSE . The default authentication mechanism for a fresh installation of Archer is Archer Native Authentication . As detailed in the Archer Installation and Troubleshooting guide, when an instance is first created, it relies on the internal Archer database to store usernames and encrypted passwords.

Single Sign-On (SSO), whether it be Windows Integrated, SAML, or LDAP-based, is an opt-in configuration that must be manually enabled and configured by a System Administrator within the Archer Control Panel (ACP) . Native authentication remains the fallback method and is used for the initial "System Administrator" account setup. While most enterprise organizations quickly transition to SSO for security and convenience, the platform itself defaults to its own internal authentication engine to ensure the system is accessible immediately after installation without requiring a pre-existing connection to an Identity Provider (IdP).

NEW QUESTION # 16

In multi-host Archer installation, same Archer configuration certificate should be used in:

- A. Web, SQL, Services servers
- B. Web and DC servers
- C. Web and SQL servers
- D. Web and Services servers

Answer: D

Explanation:

In a distributed Archer environment, the Archer Configuration Certificate is used to encrypt and secure communication between the Archer Control Panel (ACP) and the various server nodes. As taught in Archer Administration II , this certificate ensures that only authorized servers can join the instance and access the encrypted configuration files (like settings.config).

The certificate must be installed on all Web and Services servers. The Web server requires it to process user requests and communicate with the ACP, while the Services server (which handles the Job Engine, Indexing, and Workflow) requires it to decrypt the task instructions it receives. The SQL Server (Option B and C) does not require the Archer Configuration Certificate because it interacts with Archer via standard SQL authentication or Windows Authentication protocols at the database layer; it does not run the Archer Configuration Service. "DC servers" (Domain Controllers) are also outside the scope of this certificate requirement.
