CompTIA A+ Core 1 Exam (2026) Sample Questions (Q291-Q296):

NEW QUESTION # 291
A user receives an error when installing a new email app on their phone. Technician verifies OS is updated and app is supported. What should the technician check next?

- A. Processor
- B. Battery health
- C. Storage
- D. SIM card

Answer: C

Explanation:
When an application fails to install on a smartphone despite being supported by the OS and device type, CompTIA A+ stresses that the most common cause is insufficient storage. Mobile devices require not only space for the app itself but also additional temporary space for the installation process, cached data, and updates. If internal storage is nearly full, the app store will display installation errors-even if the OS and hardware meet requirements.

Battery health has no impact on app installation. A SIM card is unrelated to installing local applications-it only affects cellular connectivity. Processor architecture issues would have been caught during compatibility checking, but the technician already verified the device supports the application.

Therefore, after confirming compatibility, the next logical step is to check available storage space. If storage is low, deleting unused apps, clearing cached data, or transferring media to cloud storage or an SD card typically resolves the installation issue.

Thus, Option A: Storage is the correct answer.

NEW QUESTION # 292

Which of the following internet connection types provides the fastest speeds and greatest coverage in less populated areas with minimal infrastructure?

- A. Cable
- B. Cellular
- C. Fiber
- D. DSL

Answer: B

Explanation:

Cellular networks offer broad coverage in rural or less populated areas where laying fiber, cable, or DSL lines may not be feasible or cost-effective. Cellular broadband (4G LTE/5G) provides fast speeds using existing mobile network infrastructure.

From CompTIA A+ 220-1101 Official Study Guide, Objective 2.7 - Compare and contrast Internet connection types:

"Cellular connections offer high speed and extensive coverage, especially in areas where other wired infrastructure may not exist or be practical." Verified Source:

NEW QUESTION # 293

An SAS RAID array has severely degraded and gone offline A systems administrator examines the syslog, and the point of failure is not obvious.

Which of the following techniques should the administrator use to identify the issue (Choose two.)

- A. Check the historical SMART data
- B. Check the OS logs
- C. Listen for clicking and grinding noises
- D. Update the RAID controller firmware.
- E. Run a magnet over each drive.
- F. Check if one of the drives is not level

Answer: A,C

Explanation:

Clicking and grinding noises indicate mechanical drive failure. SMART data provides insights into the health and status of drives, helping identify failing components in the RAID array.

NEW QUESTION # 294

A user joins a conference call with a Bluetooth headset. Which of the following has the user created?

- A. WAN
- B. SAN
- C. PAN
- D. MAN

Answer: C

Explanation:

B: PAN (Personal Area Network):

A PAN is a network established between devices in close proximity, such as between a smartphone and a Bluetooth headset.

Bluetooth technology is specifically designed for short-range communication, making it a type of PAN.
Incorrect Options:
A: MAN (Metropolitan Area Network): A MAN covers a city or metropolitan area and is not relevant to Bluetooth connections.
C: SAN (Storage Area Network): A SAN is used for large-scale data storage, unrelated to Bluetooth connections.
D: WAN (Wide Area Network): A WAN spans large geographical areas (e.g., the internet) and is not relevant to this scenario.
Key Takeaway: Bluetooth connections, such as those between a headset and a device, create a Personal Area Network (PAN).

NEW QUESTION # 295
A help desk technician needs to work on a high-volume printer. Users have reported occasional paper jams and smudges appearing on printed documents. Which of the following steps should the technician do next to address these issues?

- A. Check and clean the rollers.
- B. Perform a full factory reset.
- C. Change all the ink or toner cartridges.
- D. Replace the fuser.

Answer: A

Explanation:
Paper jams and smudging in high-volume printers are often caused by dirty or worn rollers. Rollers are responsible for feeding the paper through the printer. Over time, they accumulate dust, toner residue, or wear out, resulting in misfeeds or jams. Cleaning or replacing them typically resolves this issue.
Option A (Factory reset):A full reset does not directly address mechanical issues like dirty rollers or smudging. It's a last resort and more relevant to configuration or software-related issues.
Option C (Change toner cartridges):While toner quality can affect print quality, it won't usually cause jams or widespread smudging unless the cartridge is leaking - which is less likely across multiple users.
Option D (Replace the fuser):A damaged fuser could cause smudging, but this is typically after extensive use and is not the first thing to check. Fuser issues also usually present more persistent, uniform smudges.

Objective 3.7: Given a scenario, troubleshoot common printer problems.
