ISTQB Certified Tester - Performance Testing Sample Questions (Q35-Q40):

NEW QUESTION # 35

Which of the following is a key reason to include ramp-up and ramp-down periods in a performance test?

- A. To provide a buffer for slow-performing transactions to complete
- B. To guarantee that all virtual users remain active throughout the test duration
- C. To simulate a more realistic user load pattern and avoid sudden system stress
- D. To ensure virtual users complete their transactions within a defined time window

Answer: C

Explanation:

A ramp-up period in a performance test gradually increases load over time, and a ramp-down period does the opposite. This prevents sudden surges in system load, making test results more realistic.

Option A (Ensuring transactions complete in a time window) is incorrect because ramp-up/down periods do not control transaction timing.

Option C (Providing a buffer for slow transactions) is incorrect because ramp-up/down is about load balancing, not transaction timing.

Option D (Keeping all virtual users active throughout the test) is incorrect because ramp-down periods reduce users gradually.

NEW QUESTION # 36

How does a load management console aid performance testing?

- A. It enables senior management to monitor testing.
- B. It provides reports and graphs for analysis.
- C. It emulates virtual users.
- D. It simulates user behavior.

Answer: B

Explanation:

A load management console is a tool that helps testers analyze and visualize test results, providing performance reports, graphs, and insights. This aids in understanding bottlenecks, response times, and throughput trends.

Option A (Simulating user behavior) is incorrect; load generators handle simulation.

Option B (Senior management monitoring) is not the primary role of a test console.

Option D (Emulating virtual users) is incorrect; that is the job of load injectors.

NEW QUESTION # 37

Which of the following is the most economical solution to minimize costs and time for performance testing for a high-end production client-server platform?

- A. Mainframe environment
- B. No environment
- C. Cloud-based environment
- D. Isolated lab environment

Answer: C

Explanation:

A cloud-based environment is the most cost-effective solution for performance testing. It offers scalability, pay-per-use models, and flexibility, allowing testers to simulate large workloads without expensive infrastructure investments.

Option A (Isolated lab environment) is costly due to hardware maintenance and infrastructure costs.

Option C (Mainframe environment) is expensive and impractical for performance testing.

Option D (No environment) is not a viable option.

NEW QUESTION # 38

During performance testing, in addition to the transaction response time, which of the following is needed to accurately reflect the total time to complete a transaction?

- A. Think time
- B. Action time
- C. User time
- D. Wait time

Answer: D

Explanation:
Wait time is the period a transaction spends waiting for resources, database responses, or external services before completing. It is critical for understanding real-world transaction durations.
Option A (Think time) refers to user delays, not system delays.
Option C (Action time) focuses on execution time only.
Option D (User time) is not a standard performance metric.

NEW QUESTION # 39
Which of the following is an advantage of using performance monitoring tools?

- A. They can proactively detect denial-of-service (DoS) attacks.
- B. They can prevent malicious behavior.
- C. They proactively compile metrics from server logs.
- D. They more easily identify and report multi-threading problems.

Answer: C

Explanation:
Performance monitoring tools collect real-time and historical performance data, particularly from server logs, application metrics, and infrastructure monitoring. This allows testers to analyze performance trends efficiently.
Option A is incorrect because monitoring tools do not prevent malicious behavior but may detect it.
Option C is incorrect since identifying multi-threading issues is typically done through profiling tools rather than performance monitors.
Option D is incorrect as DoS attack detection falls under security testing.
