CompTIA A+ Certification Exam: Core 1 Sample Questions (Q34-Q39):

NEW QUESTION # 34

A user reports limited or no connectivity on a laptop. A technician runs ipconfig /all with the following result:

Which of the following is the MOST likely cause of this issue?

- A. ARP cache
- B. Duplicate IP address
- C. DNS resolution
- D. DHCP failure

Answer: D

NEW QUESTION # 35

A customer's laptop is making clicking sounds in the area where non-volatile storage is installed. A technician examines the laptop and confirms the issue. Which of the following is the most appropriate replacement part?

- A. NVMe SSD
- B. 7,200rpm HDD
- C. M.2 SATA SSD
- D. SCSI 15,000rpm HDD

Answer: A

Explanation:

NVMe stands for Non-Volatile Memory Express, and it is a type of SSD (solid state drive) that uses PCIe (Peripheral Component Interconnect Express) interface to connect to a computer. NVMe SSDs offer faster performance and lower latency than other types of SSDs, such as SATA (Serial ATA) or M.2 SAT A) If a user reports that a PC occasionally fails to boot and makes clicking sounds in the area where non-volatile storage is installed, it indicates that the hard drive is failing and needs to be replaced with an NVMe SSD.

NEW QUESTION # 36

A user submitted a help desk ticket to report that the Wi-Fi connection drops every time the microwave is used. A technician suspects the issue is related to interference. Which of the following should the technician do to provide the BEST long-term solution for the issue?

- A. Configure the Wi-Fi AP to 5GHz
- B. Change the Wi-Fi operation channel.
- C. Change the SSID to hidden.
- D. Increase the power output of the AP.

Answer: A

Explanation:

The issue is related to interference from the microwave, which operates at 2.4GHz, the same frequency as some Wi-Fi channels. To avoid this interference, the technician should configure the Wi-Fi access point (AP) to use a 5GHz band, which has more channels and less interference from other devices. Changing the Wi-Fi operation channel may not solve the problem if the microwave interferes with multiple channels. Increasing the power output of the AP may not overcome the interference and may cause more interference to other devices. Changing the SSID to hidden does not affect the interference at all, and may make it harder for users to connect to the network. NEW QUESTION # 37

A customer built a computer for gaming, sourcing individual components and then assembling the system

The OS starts up, but within a few minutes the machine locks up. The customer brought the computer to a technician to diagnose the issue.

Answer:

Explanation:

Explanation:

correct answer is "Overclocking" and "Reduce CPU Clock speed" CPU is at 4.5 Ghz when normal is 3.2 Ghz

Overclocking too much can cause freezes, and this is a gaming computer so the user probably took it too far.
