ACAMS Certified Global Sanctions Specialist 認定 CGSS 試験問題 (Q87-Q92):

質問 # 87

Which control mechanism is used to increase transparency and ensure quality of reviews and subsequent decisions?

- A. Batch screening
- B. Fuzzy match
- C. Threshold calibration
- D. Four-eye check

正解: D

解説:

A four-eye check is a standard internal control requiring two independent reviewers to validate decisions, ensuring accuracy, transparency, and reducing the risk of error or inappropriate clearance of alerts.

Sanctions and Compliance Domains identify this as a critical component of the alert-handling process, enabling oversight and minimizing compliance failures.

Fuzzy matching is a screening technique, not a control mechanism. Batch screening and threshold calibration relate to system functionality, not independent quality assurance.

Reference:

Internal control expectations in sanctions compliance programs.

Dual-review ("four-eye") mechanism for alert quality assurance.

質問 # 88

A bank is offering a credit line for a trade transaction to a commercial client that is based in a country that shares its border with a sanctioned country. To which should a financial institution apply enhanced due diligence? (Select Two.)

- A. The commercial terms of the credit to ensure the terms are not prohibited under Sectoral Sanctions' extension of debit or credit arrangements.
- B. The shipment details because there are countries subject to international sanctions in the client's region.
- C. The ultimate beneficial owners of the exporter and importer.
- D. The pricing of the goods to see if they are reasonably in line with market value, determined through publicly available sources.
- E. Public domain searches of the client to confirm the client's industry.

正解: B、C

解説:

Enhanced due diligence is required when trade transactions involve jurisdictions near sanctioned countries due to the increased risk of transshipment, diversion, and sanctions evasion.

Sanctions and Compliance Domains highlight two core focus areas:

* verifying the identities and ultimate beneficial owners of all involved parties, and

* validating the shipment details, including routing, goods description, and movement patterns.

These elements are critical where geographic proximity raises sanctions exposure. While reviewing commercial terms and pricing may be part of general trade finance due diligence, the primary sanctions-specific EDD requirements focus on beneficial ownership and shipment details.

Reference from Sanctions and Compliance Domains:

Enhanced due diligence expectations for trade involving high-risk regions.

Requirements to verify UBOs to detect potential sanctioned ownership.

Importance of shipment route verification to detect diversion to sanctioned jurisdictions.

質問 # 89

What is the first step a sanctions compliance officer should take when a sham divestment is suspected?

- A. Perform sufficient due diligence to confirm organizational restructuring occurred.
- B. Terminate the relationship with the customer.
- C. Inform management about the customer.
- D. Report the case to relevant authorities and wait for instructions.

正解: A

解説:

When a sham divestment (false or deceptive attempt to hide sanctioned ownership) is suspected, the first step is to conduct sufficient due diligence to confirm whether the organizational restructuring is legitimate.

This may include reviewing ownership documents, corporate registries, control structures, and transaction activity.

Only after confirming the facts should the institution escalate internally, report externally, or terminate the relationship.

Reference:

OFAC and EU/UK guidance on suspected sham divestments and control analysis.

Requirement for detailed due diligence before escalation or reporting.

質問 # 90

While reviewing a transaction screening alert, an analyst noted that a payment message made reference to a port in a sanctioned country. The payment was to a company based in a country neighboring the sanctioned country. Which action should the analyst take?

- A. Review if the beneficiary party's country applies sanctions on the neighboring country; if not, the payment can be approved.
- B. Approve the payment since the parties in the payment are not based in a sanctioned country or are not subject to sanctions.
- C. Request the underlying documents and shipment details to ensure there is no involvement of a sanctioned party, port, or sanctioned country goods.
- D. Reject the payment and request the remitter to remove any reference to sanctioned country port in the payment message.

正解: C

解説:

Sanctions and Compliance Domains outline that references to sanctioned ports, locations, or shipping routes in payment instructions require further investigation. Even when the transaction parties are not located in a sanctioned jurisdiction, involvement of a sanctioned port or movement of prohibited goods can trigger sanctions exposure.

The correct approach is to obtain supporting documents such as shipping documents, invoices, bills of lading, and routing information to confirm whether the shipment, goods, transport path, or third parties have any sanctioned involvement. Approving or rejecting a payment without verification contradicts sanctions screening standards.

Reference from Sanctions and Compliance Domains:

Requirements to investigate references to sanctioned locations in trade or payment messages.

Guidance on obtaining underlying documents to assess sanctions exposure.

Expectations for verifying goods, ports, and shipment paths.

質問 #91

Economic sanctions are used as a foreign policy tool. UN sanctions are imposed:

- A. to call upon Member States to affect UN decisions.
- B. to freeze assets, and offenders may be barred from entering the territories of Member States.
- C. by a single country against a targeted entity or a bloc of nations.
- D. to maintain international peace, security, and stability.

正解: D

解説:

UN sanctions are imposed by the UN Security Council as part of its mandate to maintain international peace and security. They are intended to influence behavior, prevent conflict, suppress terrorism, and stabilize global security conditions.

While asset freezes and travel bans are common measures (option D), they are examples, not the fundamental reason for imposing sanctions. Option C describes the overarching purpose.

UN Security Council mandate under the UN Charter.

Objectives of UN sanctions in global peace and security.
