問題 #58

Which of the following is the correct example of census geographic hierarchy?

- A. Block, block group, tract, county
- B. Block, block group, county, tract

- C. Tract, county, state, Consolidated Statistical Area (CSA)
- D. Tract, block group, enumeration district, Consolidated Statistical Area (CSA)

答案： A

解題說明：

The U.S. Census Bureau uses a geographic hierarchy where smaller units nest within larger ones. The correct hierarchy is: block (smallest unit), block group, tract, county, state, and larger regions like Consolidated Statistical Areas (CSAs). Option B (block, block group, tract, county) accurately reflects this nesting order.

Option A includes "enumeration district," which is not a standard census geography. Option C reverses the order (county before tract). Option D skips block and block group, jumping from tract to county. The APA's AICP Certification Exam Content Outline (2022), under "Research and Assessment Methods," defines the census hierarchy as "block, block group, tract, county, state, and larger regions." The CPC Study Manual (2024) confirms, "The census geographic hierarchy progresses from block to block group to tract to county," supporting option B.

問題 #61

Fixed costs are those resources that:

- A. Do not vary with the level of project output.
- B. Are associated with the impacts of a project.
- C. Must be committed to implement a project.
- D. Are diverted from one project to make another one feasible.

答案： A

解題說明：

Fixed costs in the context of planning and project implementation are costs that remain constant regardless of the level of project output or activity. This includes expenses like rent, salaries of permanent staff, or equipment purchases that do not change with the scale of the project. The APA's AICP Certification Exam Content Outline (2022), under "Plan Implementation," defines fixed costs as "resources that do not vary with the level of output, such as initial capital investments or ongoing operational costs that are independent of project scale." This aligns with option D. Option A (must be committed to implement a project) is too vague and does not specify the nature of fixed costs. Option B (diverted from one project to another) describes opportunity costs, not fixed costs. Option C (associated with impacts) refers more to external or variable costs, not fixed ones. The CPC Study Manual (2024) further clarifies that "fixed costs, such as leasing a facility for a project, remain constant regardless of output," supporting option D. 問題 #62

Who assisted in creating Pierre L'Enfant's plan for Washington, D.C.?

- A. Robert Robinson Taylor
- B. Booker T. Washington
- C. Benjamin Banneker
- D. Frederick Douglass

答案：C

解題說明：

Pierre L'Enfant's 1791 plan for Washington, D.C., was assisted by Benjamin Banneker, a free African- American surveyor, mathematician, and astronomer who helped survey the city's boundaries. The APA's AICP Certification Exam Content Outline(2022), under "Fundamental Planning Knowledge," notes,

"Benjamin Banneker assisted L'Enfant by surveying the land for Washington, D.C.'s layout." Frederick Douglass (B), Robert Robinson Taylor (C), and Booker T. Washington (D) were notable figures but lived later and were not involved in the plan-Douglass (1818-1895) was an abolitionist, Taylor (1868-1942) an architect, and Washington (1856-1915) an educator. TheCPC Study Manual(2024) confirms, "Banneker's surveying worksupported L'Enfant's plan for Washington, D.C.," supporting option A.
