Adobe Experience Manager Architect Master Sample Questions (Q43-Q48):

NEW QUESTION # 43

AEM Site users report that the web content pages render very slowly. An Architect notices that the CPU usages of the AEM

Publish instances are spiking and reviews the following entry in the log:

[Frt Nov 27 23:11:00 2019] [I] [pid 16004 (tid 140134145820416)] Current cache hit ratio: 47.94 % What should the Architect do to increase the dispatcher cache ratio and prevent the AEM Publish CPU usage spikes?

- A. Add additional AEM instances to the Publish Farm
- B. Add additional dispatcher servers
- C. Create a cron job that will delete the dispatcher cache on a regular basis
- D. Review and optimize the Dispatcher cache configuration

Answer: D

Explanation:

According to Adobe Experience Manager documentation⁵, dispatcher is a caching and load balancing tool that can be used to improve performance and security of AEM sites. Dispatcher cache configuration can be adjusted using various properties in the dispatcher.any file⁶. Creating a cron job that will delete the dispatcher cache on a regular basis is not a good idea as it will reduce the cache hit ratio and increase the load on AEM servers.

NEW QUESTION # 44

An AEM Sites implementation is migrating from on-premise to AEM as a Cloud Service. Previously, the application was deployed in a single package for both code and access policy nodes. After initial deployment and testing in the new infrastructure, it is reported that user permissions are not working as expected.

What change should the Architect make to address this issue?

- A. Refactor access policy nodes to Apache Sling JCR Repoint scripts in the same package
- B. Move access policy nodes to a dedicated package and install manually
- C. Document permissions and request the Customer Success Engineer to configure
- D. Update package metadata to use MergePreserve for handling access policy nodes

Answer: A

Explanation:

Refactor access policy nodes to Apache Sling JCR Repoint scripts in the same package¹. According to Adobe Experience Manager documentation²³, access policy nodes are used to control who can access a policy-protected document. However, they are not supported by AEM as a Cloud Service and need to be refactored using Apache Sling JCR Repoint scripts.

NEW QUESTION # 45

A client using AEM 6.5 on-premise is experiencing an unsustainable repository growth of 100Gb a day. After investigation, an Architect finds out that the DAM is causing this issue. Each image uploaded to the DAM triggers the creation of approximately 100 renditions, necessary by business to consume in different channels and systems. The client also complains about stale content reported by site visitors happening randomly in pages where article-related components are present.

How should the Architect address these issues?

- A. Leverage AEM Adaptive Image Servlet cache image variations in Dispatcher, and implement a cache TTL in Dispatcher
- B. Split WCM and DAM in separate instances, set up Connected Assets, and re-implement article-related components to use AJAX to load the content
- C. Split WCM and DAM in separate instances, set up Connected Assets, and implement a workflow to purge all pages affected by an article change in Dispatcher
- D. Leverage AEM Adaptive Image Servlet, cache image variations in Dispatcher, and reimplement article-related components to use AJAX to load the content

Answer: B

NEW QUESTION # 46

A client is modernizing some of their AEM sites to go from static to editable templates so they can use the latest features around has the following parameters:

- * The client currently has a dozen static templates that they want to move to editable templates.
- * The existing pages use the parsys paragraph system for storing components.
- * Each page based on one of the static templates has its own custom properties tab that is unique for that template type.
- * The client wants template authors to be able to create the editable templates.

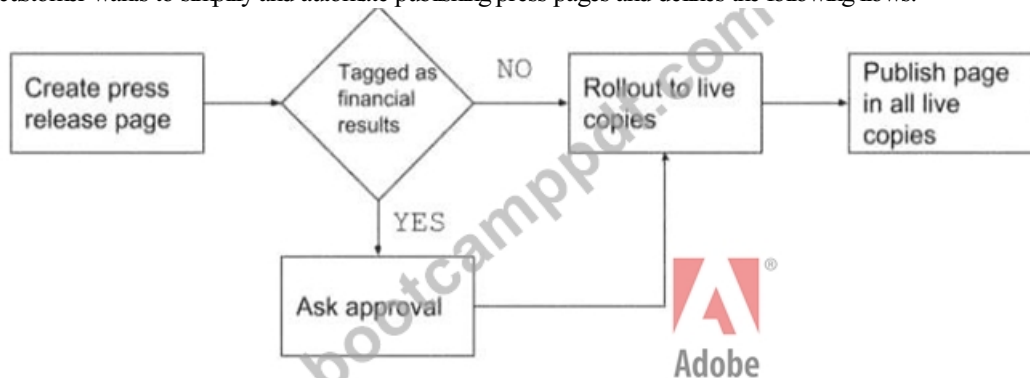

Which approach should an Architect use to meet these requirements?

- A. 1. Use the same page components for editable templates
2. Use a new template type for each static template
- B. 1. Use the same page components for editable templates
2. Create a new editable template based on each of the existing page components
- C. 1. Use a new page component for editable templates based on the core components page component
2. Convert page properties to policies
- D. 1. Use a new page component for editable templates based on the core components page component
2. Migrate page properties to respective components dialogues

Answer: B

NEW QUESTION # 47

A customer wants to simplify and automate publishing press pages and defines the following flows:

What should the Architect recommend?

- A. Configure MSM with the "Activate on Blueprint activation" option
- B. Advise the customer to use Launches
- C. Create a custom workflow
- D. Implement a Sling event listener that triggers on page creation

Answer: B

Explanation:

Advise the customer to use Launches . According to Adobe Experience Manager documentation¹, launches in AEM Sites provide a way to create, author, and review web site content for future release. Launches can also be synchronized with the production web site and activated at a scheduled time¹
