Adobe Real-Time CDP Business Practitioner Professional Sample Questions

(Q68-Q73):

NEW QUESTION # 68

A customer needs to access profile data using /access/entities endpoint. What parameters are required to retrieve profile information?

- A. Data ingested TimeStamp field
- B. Entity Identity and Entity ID Namespace
- C. Profile Name and DOB field

Answer: B

Explanation:

To retrieve specific profile information programmatically via the Adobe Experience Platform Real-Time Customer Profile API, developers must use the /access/entities endpoint. Because the profile store is a NoSQL environment designed for high-speed lookups, the system requires specific coordinates to locate a profile fragment or a merged profile. These required parameters are the Entity Identity (the actual value of the ID, such as "user@example.com") and the Entity ID Namespace (the context of that ID, such as "email").

When making a GET request to this endpoint, the id and namespace parameters are mandatory because a single identity value might exist in multiple namespaces (e.g., the numeric string "12345" could be a CRM_ID for one person and a Loyalty_ID for another). Providing both ensures the API returns the correct entity. Option A is incorrect as timestamps are used for filtering or auditing but not for primary entity retrieval. Option C is incorrect because names and dates of birth are attributes within a profile, not the unique lookup keys used by the API's identity-based indexing system. Mastery of these parameters is essential for developers building custom integrations or troubleshooting profile data within the platform.

NEW QUESTION # 69

What are characteristics of Edge-based activation? (Select two.)

- A. Processes data locally to reduce latency.
- B. Enables real-time personalization.
- C. Requires manual activation triggers.
- D. Uses batch workflows for data updates.

Answer: A,B

NEW QUESTION # 70

A data engineer is working on defining a data usage policy via automatic enforcement and has configured dataset labels C1 and C2 to enforce the restriction. The data engineer has set up the marketing actions, enabled the policy, and while activating audiences to destinations, realizes that the policy violations did not occur.

How can the data engineer ensure that the data policy is enforced successfully?

- A. Include the labels C1 and C2 in separate audiences upon activation
- B. Include the labels C1 and C2 in the same audience upon activation
- C. Exclude the labels C1 and C2 from any audience upon activation
- D. Assign labels C1 and C2 to the schema rather than to the dataset during activation

Answer: B

NEW QUESTION # 71

A marketer views the license usage dashboard first thing in the morning and notices the average profile richness metric is hovering around 300KB per profile when they only have 100KB in their contract. The marketer appropriately identifies a dataset causing the issue and determines they can drop the entire dataset without impacting their marketing use cases. They know the dataset contributes around ~150KB of average profile richness per profile. When the marketer reviews the dashboard license usage dashboard before the end of the day, they notice it has not been updated with the 150KB of richness removed. They confirm the data is deleted from the profile and are confused.

Assuming no other factors are present that are contributing to the average profile richness, why is the dashboard still showing the old value of 300KB?

- A. The marketer forgot the license usage dashboard only updates one time per day.
- B. The marketer needs to manually run the "Update license usage" job to refresh the metrics.
- C. The marketer needs to wait until the next streaming segmentation job runs.
- D. The marketer needs to re-enable the deleted dataset for the dashboard to reflect the changes.

Answer: A

NEW QUESTION # 72

Which process is crucial for creating a unified customer profile in Adobe Experience Platform?

- A. Employing a single data source to ensure consistency in the profile
- B. Configuring identity Graph to reconcile multiple identifiers across datasets
- C. Using Adobe Real-time CDP to automatically update identities and preferences
- D. Restricting profile data to demographic attributes only to reduce complexity

Answer: B

Explanation:

Creating a unified customer profile in Adobe Experience Platform (AEP) depends fundamentally on the Identity Service and its ability to bridge disparate data fragments. The crucial process is the configuration of the Identity Graph, which serves as a map of relationships between various identity namespaces (such as Email, CRM ID, and ECID) across different datasets. When data is ingested, the Identity Service looks for these identifiers; if two different records share a common identifier, the service links them together in the graph.

Without a properly configured Identity Graph, data remains siloed in its original datasets. For example, if a "Purchase" event from an offline system contains a CRM ID and a "Web Visit" event contains an ECID, the platform cannot know they belong to the same person unless a third record (perhaps a login event) connects the CRM ID to the ECID. Option A is incorrect because a unified profile requires both attributes and behavioral events to be useful. Option C defeats the purpose of a CDP, which is designed to integrate multiple sources. Option D is a result of the system's function but not the specific underlying process required to achieve unification. Therefore, reconciling identifiers through the Identity Graph is the technical foundation for the "Single View of the Customer."
