EMC Dell PowerProtect Data Manager Deploy 2023 Exam Sample Questions (Q12-Q17):

NEW QUESTION # 12

What unit of time does the "backup once every" field display when configuring a PowerProtect Data Manager disaster recovery backup?

- A. Weeks
- B. Days
- C. Hours
- D. Minutes

Answer: C

Explanation:

In Dell PowerProtect Data Manager (PPDM), protecting the application itself is a critical administrative task.

This is handled through the Server Disaster Recovery (DR) backup configuration.

When an administrator navigates to Infrastructure > Disaster Recovery to set up or edit the DR backup schedule, the system requires a frequency to be defined for the backup of the PPDM metadata and configuration database.

* The Schedule Field: The specific field labeled "Backup Once Every" is designed to ensure that the system state is captured frequently enough to meet the Recovery Point Objective (RPO) of the management plane.

* The Unit: According to the PPDM Administration Guide, this field is expressed in Hours. By default, it is often set to 8 or 12 hours, but it can be adjusted by the user within the allowed numerical range (typically 1 to 24 hours).

* Storage Target: These DR backups are sent to a pre-configured PowerProtect DD (Data Domain) system to ensure that, in the event of a total PPDM VM failure, the environment can be restored using the ISO and the metadata stored on the protection storage.

Setting this in hours allows for a more granular protection cycle than "Days" or "Weeks," which would be insufficient for a dynamic environment where protection policies and assets change throughout the day.
