NEW QUESTION # 20

For which one of these processes is Direct Current essential, and will not work with alternating current?

- A. Heating
- B. Electrolysis
- C. Lighting
- D. Turning a motor

Answer: B

Explanation:
Explanation

Direct Current (DC) is essential for the process of electrolysis. Electrolysis is the process of breaking down a compound using an electric current. The electric current causes ions to move, which results in a chemical reaction that breaks down the compound. In order for electrolysis to work, a direct current is required, as the ions must flow in one direction. Alternating Current (AC) changes direction and would not provide a consistent flow of ions.

Heating, lighting, and turning a motor can be done by either DC or AC. Heating can be done by passing an electric current through a heating element, which can be powered by either DC or AC. Lighting can be done by passing an electric current through a light bulb, which can be powered by either DC or AC. A motor can be powered by either DC or AC, but the type of motor and the application will determine which type of current is more suitable.

NEW QUESTION # 15

Every air distribution system has a _____ system and a _____ system

- A. Supply, Release
- B. Supply, Reverse
- C. Maintenance, Regulation
- D. Supply, Return

Answer: D

Explanation:

Explanation

Every air distribution system has a supply system, which delivers conditioned air to the space, and a return system, which collects the air from the space and returns it to the air handling unit. The return system is responsible for providing the necessary negative pressure in the space to ensure proper air circulation.

NEW QUESTION # 16

True or False: Fuel availability generally dictates the type of standby generator selected

- A. False
- B. True

Answer: B

Explanation:

Explanation

Fuel availability generally dictates the type of standby generator selected as different types of generators use different types of fuel. For example, gasoline generators are typically used in residential or small commercial applications, while diesel generators are usually used in larger industrial and commercial applications. Propane or natural gas generators may also be used, depending on the availability of fuel sources.

NEW QUESTION # 17

_____ represents the maximum power cable of being drawn by the equipment.

- A. VA rating
- B. Star rating

- C. Grade rating
- D. Power rating

Answer: D

Explanation:

Power rating represents the maximum power that can be drawn by the equipment. It is usually measured in watts (W) or kilowatts (kW) and represents the maximum amount of power that the equipment can consume without causing damage to the device or the power source.

VA rating (Volt-Ampere rating) is a measure of the apparent power in a circuit, which is the product of the voltage and current in the circuit. It is often used to describe the power handling capability of electronic devices and equipment.

Star rating is a rating system used to indicate the energy efficiency of electrical devices and equipment. The rating ranges from 1 to 5 stars, with 5 stars indicating the most energy-efficient device.

Grade rating is a rating system used to indicate the quality of electrical devices and equipment. It is used in different industry and can indicate the quality of electronic component and material used in equipment.

NEW QUESTION # 18

Which one of the following is an advantage of Glycol Cooled System?

- A. No maintenance of glycol
- B. No additional cost is required
- C. Glycol pipes can run long distances and can service several CRAC units
- D. Can be used in big data centers

Answer: C

Explanation:

Glycol cooled systems are advantageous because they are efficient and can service large data centers with multiple racks.

Furthermore, glycol pipes can run long distances, allowing a single system to service several CRAC units. This eliminates the need for multiple systems, resulting in cost savings and reduced maintenance.
