NEW QUESTION # 46

The concept of data adequacy is based on the principle of _____.

- A. Adequate compliance
- B. Essential assessment
- C. Dissimilarity of legislations
- D. Essential equivalence

Answer: D

Explanation:

Data adequacy is a concept primarily referenced under international data transfer mechanisms, especially in GDPR and mirrored in Indian and global privacy frameworks. The idea is that a country can receive personal data from another country if it ensures an "adequate level of protection".

This level is determined not by exact replication of laws but by their "Essential Equivalence" to the originating country's standards. The principle of "Essential Equivalence" means that although the laws do not have to be identical, they must offer comparable protection in practice. This is the benchmark used by authorities like the EU Commission and reflected in frameworks including DPF.

NEW QUESTION # 47

Which of the following wasn't prescribed as a privacy principle under the OECD Privacy Guidelines, 1980?

- A. Security Safeguard
- B. Data Minimization
- C. Purpose Specification
- D. Openness

Answer: B

Explanation:

The OECD Guidelines on the Protection of Privacy and Transborder Flows of Personal Data (1980) defined eight core privacy principles:

- * Collection Limitation
- * Data Quality
- * Purpose Specification
- * Use Limitation
- * Security Safeguards
- * Openness
- * Individual Participation
- * Accountability

"Data Minimization" was not part of the original 1980 OECD principles. While it is a common privacy principle today and included in modern frameworks like GDPR and DSCI's DPF, it was not part of the original OECD set.
