Snowflake SnowPro Advanced Administrator ADA-C02 Sample Questions (Q30-Q35):

NEW QUESTION # 30

Which actions are considered breaking changes to data that is shared with consumers in the Snowflake Marketplace? (Choose two.)

- A. Renaming a table
- B. Adding region availability to the listing
- C. Dropping a column from a table
- D. Unpublishing the data listing
- E. Deleting data from a table

Answer: A,C

Explanation:

Dropping a column from a table or renaming a table breaks the shared schema and can cause dependent queries to fail for consumers. These are considered breaking changes to shared data in the Snowflake Marketplace.

NEW QUESTION # 31

A large international company with many operating regions requires data to be shared bi-directionally among all offices (head office to regional offices and regional offices among themselves). This company is a Snowflake account holder with European operations deployed in Microsoft Azure (single region) while North American regional offices are using AWS (single region) as their deployment cloud. This setup is required to comply with Personal Identifiable Information (PII) regulations in some of the European countries. The corporate head office is in Europe.

How can this data be shared bi-directionally, while MINIMIZING costs?

- A. Use data replication everywhere to reduce costs associated with same-region sharing.
- B. Move all the Snowflake accounts to a single region, and implement data sharing.
- C. Use bi-directional data sharing among offices in the same region and replication among offices across the continents.
- D. Use the PUT command to move files to an Amazon S3 bucket and Azure Blobs, and use an external file management application to move files within the corporate VPC.

Answer: C

Explanation:

Direct data sharing is the most cost-efficient method when accounts are in the same region and cloud. For cross-continent or cross-cloud sharing, Snowflake requires replication. Combining both - data sharing within the same region and replication across continents - ensures compliance, minimizes costs, and enables bi-directional sharing.

NEW QUESTION # 32

A Snowflake Administrator needs to set up Time Travel for a presentation area that includes facts and dimensions tables, and receives a lot of meaningless and erroneous IoT data. Time Travel is being used as a component of the company's data quality process in which the ingestion pipeline should revert to a known quality data state if any anomalies are detected in the latest load. Data from the past 30 days may have to be retrieved because of latencies in the data acquisition process.

According to best practices, how should these requirements be met? (Choose two.)

- A. The DATA_RETENTION_TIME_IN_DAYS should be kept at the account level and never used for lower level containers (databases and schemas).
- B. The fact and dimension tables should have the same DATA_RETENTION_TIME_IN_DAYS.
- C. Related data should not be placed together in the same schema. Facts and dimension tables should each have their own schemas.
- D. The fact and dimension tables should be cloned together using the same Time Travel options to reduce potential referential integrity issues with the restored data.
- E. Only TRANSIENT tables should be used to ensure referential integrity between the fact and dimension tables.

Answer: B,D

Explanation:

To ensure consistent recovery, fact and dimension tables must have the same DATA_RETENTION_TIME_IN_DAYS, so they can be restored to the same point in time.

Cloning the fact and dimension tables together with consistent Time Travel options ensures data integrity and avoids referential mismatches when reverting to a prior state.

NEW QUESTION # 33

A retailer uses a TRANSACTIONS table (100M rows, 1.2 TB) that has been clustered by the STORE_ID column (varchar(50)). The vast majority of analyses on this table are grouped by STORE_ID to look at store performance.

There are 1000 stores operated by the retailer but most sales come from only 20 stores. The Administrator notes that most queries are currently experiencing poor pruning, with large amounts of bytes processed by even simple queries.

Why is this occurring?

- A. Sales across stores are not uniformly distributed.
- B. The STORE_ID should be numeric.
- C. The table is not big enough to take advantage of the clustering key.
- D. The cardinality of the stores to transaction count ratio is too low to use the STORE_ID as a clustering key.

Answer: A

Explanation:

Clustering is effective when data distribution across the clustering key is relatively uniform. In this case, most transactions are concentrated in only 20 of the 1000 stores, leading to skewed data distribution. This imbalance causes poor pruning, since large portions of micro-partitions still need to be scanned, even for queries targeting specific stores.

NEW QUESTION # 34

What are the MINIMUM grants required on the database, schema, and table for a stream to be properly created and managed?

- A. Database: Usage, Create Stream
Schema: Usage
Table: Select
- B. Database: Usage
Schema: Usage
Table: Select
- C. Database: Usage
Schema: Usage
Table: Select, Create Stream
- D. Database: Usage
Schema: Usage, Create Stream
Table: Select

Answer: D

Explanation:

Database: USAGE is required to access the database.

Schema: USAGE and CREATE STREAM are required to create streams in the schema.

Table: SELECT is needed so the stream can track changes on the table.
