NEW QUESTION # 167
Which of the following statements is true about Guided Application Creator?

- A. Default access controls are automatically created
- B. The global scope option is turned on by default
- C. The welcome screen appears every time a new application is created
- D. A scope application user role is automatically created

Answer: C

Explanation:
The welcome screen appears every time a new application is created through the Guided Application Creator. The welcome screen provides an overview of the steps involved in creating an application, such as defining the app name, scope, and tables, configuring the app user interface, and publishing the app. The other options are not true about the Guided Application Creator. The global scope option is turned off by default, as it is recommended to create applications in their own scope for better security and performance. A scope application user role is not automatically created, as the user can choose to create one or use an existing role for the app access control. Default access controls are not automatically created, as the user can define the read, write, create, and delete permissions for each table in the app. Reference: Guided App Creator
