NEW QUESTION # 17
What are the participant roles in reviews?

- A. Domain SME, regulator, sponsor, project manager
- B. Author, reviewer, facilitator, scribe
- C. Customer, supplier, end user, business analyst
- D. Approver, administrator, reviewer, tester

Answer: B

Explanation:
In the context of business analysis, reviews are conducted to assess the content of a work product. The participants in these reviews typically include:
Author: The person who created the work product.
Reviewer: Individuals who evaluate the work product, looking for defects and areas of improvement.
Facilitator: The person who leads the review process, ensuring that the objectives are met and the process is efficient.
Scribe: The individual responsible for documenting the findings of the review.
These roles are essential to ensure that the work product is complete, valid, and meets the necessary quality standards.

NEW QUESTION # 18
Why must business analysis information packages be prepared?

- A. To facilitate reviews and approvals
- B. To determine the information management approach
- C. To determine the stakeholder engagement approach
- D. To plan tasks for the week

Answer: A

Explanation:
Business analysis information packages are prepared to facilitate reviews and approvals. These packages compile essential information in a structured format, making it easier for stakeholders to review the content and provide feedback or approval. This ensures that all relevant information is considered and that decisions are made based on a comprehensive understanding of the issues, requirements, and proposed solutions.
Effective preparation of these packages helps streamline the review process and supports better decision-making.
