- B. Instances in a private subnet can communicate with the Internet only if they have an Elastic IP.
- C. CIDR block mask of /25 is the smallest range supported.
- D. By default, all subnets can route between each other, whether they are private or public.
- E. Each subnet spans at least 2 Availability Zones to provide a high-availability environment.

Answer: A,D

NEW QUESTION # 260

A company wants to migrate its website from an on-premises data center onto AWS. At the same time, it wants to migrate the website to a containerized microservice-based architecture to improve the availability and cost efficiency. The company's security policy states that privileges and network permissions must be configured according to best practice, using least privilege. A Solutions Architect must create a containerized architecture that meets the security requirements and has deployed the application to an Amazon ECS cluster.

What steps are required after the deployment to meet the requirements? (Choose two.)

- A. Create tasks using the awsvpc network mode.
- B. Apply security groups to Amazon EC2 instances, and use IAM roles for EC2 instances to access other resources.
- C. Create tasks using the bridge network mode.
- D. Apply security groups to the tasks, and use IAM roles for tasks to access other resources.
- E. Apply security groups to the tasks, and pass IAM credentials into the container at launch time to access other resources.
