Which Python operator is used to test if two variables are equal?

- A. =
- B. %
- C. !=
- D. ==

Answer: D

Explanation:

In Python, the == operator is used to test whether two variables are equal. It returns True if the variables are equal and False if they are not.

Option B (==) is correct because it is the equality operator in Python.

Option A (!=) is used for inequality, Option C (%) is the modulus operator, and Option D (=) is used for assignment, not for testing equality.

Supports Multiple RPC Calls (D): The REST API Explorer can execute multiple RPC (Remote Procedure Call) commands, allowing a wide range of operations to be performed directly through the interface.

Option A is incorrect because the REST API Explorer is not enabled by default; it must be enabled manually. Option B is incorrect because the REST API Explorer returns data in both XML and JSON formats, not just XML.
