The application must acknowledge and respect the user's locale context for dates, times, numbers, currency, and currency symbols.

When using Aura components, which approach should the developer implement to ensure the Lightning application complies with the user's locale?

- A. Use the $User global variable to retrieve the user preferences.
- B. Create a Hierarchical custom setting to store user preferences.
- C. Use the $Label global value provider.
- D. Use the $Locale value provider to retrieve the user preferences.

Answer: D

Explanation:

* All customers have a unique Customer__Number_c that is unique across all of UC's systems.

* UC also has a custom Invoice c object, with a Lookup to Account, to represent invoices that are sent out from their external system.

UC wants to integrate invoice data back into Salesforce so Sales Reps can see when a customer pays their bills on time.

What is the optimal way to implement this?

- A. Ensure Customer Number c is an External ID and that a custom field Invoice Number c is an External ID and Upsert invoice data nightly.
- B. Create a cross-reference table in the custom invoicing system with the Salesforce Account ID of each Customer and insert invoice data nightly.
- C. Query the Account Object upon each call to insert invoice data to fetch the Salesforce ID corresponding to the Customer Number on the invoice.
- D. Use Salesforce Connect and external data objects to seamlessly import the invoice data into Salesforce without custom code.

Answer: A

Explanation:

The optimal way to integrate invoice data into Salesforce, allowing for the upsert operation which can insert or update records based on the presence of the External ID, is to use the External ID fields. This ensures that the invoices are associated correctly with the existing Accounts and that upsert operations can be performed efficiently.

- A)
- B)
- C)
- D)

- A. Option A
- B. Option C
- C. Option D
- D. Option B

Answer: A

Explanation:

To communicate a property change up a containment hierarchy in Lightning Web Components (LWC), the child component should dispatch a custom event with the detail of the change. The parent component listens for this event and handles it accordingly. Option A is the correct method because it creates a new custom event with the detail property containing the new value of passthrough. This event is then dispatched, and the parent component can listen for this event to handle the updated value. Options B, C, and D are incorrect because they either don't pass any data with the event or they don't use the detail object which is the standard way to pass data with custom events in LWC.
