Amazon AWS Certified Developer Associate Exam (DVA-C02) Sample Questions (Q164-Q169):

NEW QUESTION # 164
A developer is using an AWS CloudFormation template to create a pipeline in AWS CodePipeline. The template creates an Amazon S3 bucket that the pipeline references in a source stage. The template also creates an AWS CodeBuild project for a build stage. The pipeline sends notifications to an Amazon SNS topic. Logs for the CodeBuild project are stored in Amazon CloudWatch Logs.
The company needs to ensure that the pipeline's artifacts are encrypted with an existing customer-managed AWS KMS key. The developer has granted the pipeline permissions to use the KMS key.

Which additional step will meet these requirements?

- A. In the CloudFormation template, use the KMS key to encrypt the logs in CloudWatch Logs.
- B. Configure the notification topic to use the existing KMS key to enable encryption with the existing KMS key.
- C. Create an Amazon S3 gateway endpoint that the pipeline can access.
- D. Apply an S3 bucket policy that ensures the pipeline sends only encrypted objects to the S3 bucket.

Answer: D

Explanation:
* Why Option C is Correct:Ensuring that pipeline artifacts are encrypted with a customer-managed AWS KMS key involves configuring the S3 bucket policy to require encryption. This policy ensures all objects uploaded to the bucket are encrypted with the specified KMS key.
* Why Other Options are Incorrect:
* Option A: A gateway endpoint improves S3 access efficiency but does not enforce encryption.
* Option B: Encrypting CloudWatch Logs is unrelated to securing pipeline artifacts.
* Option D: Configuring SNS for encryption does not affect the artifacts stored in the S3 bucket.
* AWS Documentation References:
* Using Server-Side Encryption with S3 Bucket Policies

NEW QUESTION # 165
The Development team recently executed a database script containing several data definition language (DDL) and data manipulation language (DML) statements on an Amazon Aurora MySQL DB cluster. The release accidentally deleted thousands of rows from an important table and broke some application functionality. This was discovered 4 hours after the release. Upon investigation, a Database Specialist tracked the issue to a DELETE command in the script with an incorrect WHERE clause filtering the wrong set of rows.
The Aurora DB cluster has Backtrack enabled with an 8-hour backtrack window. The Database Administrator also took a manual snapshot of the DB cluster before the release started. The database needs to be returned to the correct state as quickly as possible to resume full application functionality. Data loss must be minimal.
How can the Database Specialist accomplish this?

- A. Quickly rewind the DB cluster to a point in time before the release using Backtrack.
- B. Restore the DB cluster using the manual backup snapshot created before the release and change the application configuration settings to point to the new DB cluster.
- C. Create a clone of the DB cluster with Backtrack enabled. Rewind the cloned cluster to a point in time before the release. Copy deleted rows from the clone to the original database.
- D. Perform a point-in-time recovery (PITR) of the DB cluster to a time before the release and copy the deleted rows from the restored database to the original database.

Answer: C

A Developer wants to debug an application by searching and filtering log data. The application logs are stored in Amazon CloudWatch Logs. The Developer creates a new metric filter to count exceptions in the application logs. However, no results are returned from the logs.

What is the reason that no filtered results are being returned?

- A. Metric data points for logs groups can be filtered only after they are exported to an Amazon S3 bucket
- B. A setup of the Amazon CloudWatch interface VPC endpoint is required for filtering the CloudWatch Logs in the VPC
- C. The log group for CloudWatch Logs should be first streamed to Amazon Elasticsearch Service before metric filtering returns the results
- D. CloudWatch Logs only publishes metric data for events that happen after the filter is created

Answer: D

NEW QUESTION # 168

A Developer is creating an AWS Lambda function to process a stream of data from an Amazon Kinesis Data Stream. When the Lambda function parses the data and encounters a missing field, it exits the function with an error. The function is generating duplicate records from the Kinesis stream. When the Developer looks at the stream output without the Lambda function, there are no duplicate records.

What is the reason for the duplicates?

- A. The Lambda function did not advance the Kinesis stream pointer to the next record after the error.
- B. The Lambda event source used asynchronous invocation, resulting in duplicate records.
- C. The Lambda function is not keeping up with the amount of data coming from the stream.
- D. The Lambda function did not handle the error, and the Lambda service attempted to reprocess the data.

Answer: A
