問題 #18

A Solution Architect is designing the data collection architecture for a mission-critical "Financial Trading" Workload Domain. The requirement specifies that data collection must continue without interruption even if a single Cloud Proxy appliance fails during maintenance.

Architecture Plan

Domain: Trading-WLD

Object Count: 10,000 Resources

Required Availability: N+1 Redundancy for Collection

Current Inventory

Cloud Proxy 1: cp-trade-01

Cloud Proxy 2: cp-trade-02

Which configuration object must be created in VCF Operations to satisfy this requirement?

- A. A Collector Group containing both cp-trade-01 and cp-trade-02.
- B. A Federation definition linking the two Cloud Proxies.
- C. A Custom Datacenter object assigning cp-trade-01 as Primary and cp-trade-02 as Replica.
- D. A VCF Operations HA Cluster profile applied to the Trading-WLD adapter.

答案: A

問題 #19

An operator observes that the "Metric Graph" for a virtual machine shows a broken line with frequent gaps (white spaces) over the last 24 hours.

Troubleshooting Workbench - Object: VM-SQL-01

Collection State: Collecting

Collection Status: Data Receiving

Collector Log Analysis (cloud-proxy-01.log)

[WARN] [Collector-Worker-Thread] Collection cycle took 295 seconds (Threshold: 280s).

[WARN] [Collector-Worker-Thread] Skipping next cycle to catch up.

What does the log data indicate is the root cause of the data gaps?

- A. The firewall between the Cloud Proxy and the Analytics Cluster is dropping 50% of the packets.
- B. The VM-SQL-01 is frequently powering off, stopping data generation.
- C. The Cloud Proxy is undersized for the number of objects it is monitoring, causing the collection cycle to exceed the 5-minute interval window.
- D. The vCenter Server database is corrupt.

答案： C

問題 #20

An organization has two data centers: "New York" (High Cost) and "Phoenix" (Low Cost). The facilities team provides the following cost data per server:

* New York: $1,000/month

* Phoenix: $600/month

How should the VCF Operations administrator configure the system to accurately reflect this regional variance?

- A. Use a "Super Metric" to multiply the Phoenix costs by 0.6.
- B. Create two Cost Driver Profiles (or edit the Cost Drivers). Select the "New York" Datacenter/Cluster scope and assign the 1,000 cost. Select the "Phoenix" Datacenter/Cluster scope and assign the 600 cost.
- C. It is not possible; VCF Operations applies a single global average cost to all servers.
- D. Create two separate VCF Operations instances.

答案： B

問題 #21

A requirement states that all Windows VMs deployed by the "Finance" project must be automatically joined to the finance.corp.local domain and placed in the OU=Servers,OU=Finance Organizational Unit.

Which integration point handles this computer account creation and placement logic?

- A. VCF Automation Config (SaltStack).
- B. Active Directory Integration. In the "Integrations" tab, the admin configures the AD connection (LDAP/AD). Then, within the Project settings (Provisioning tab), the admin adds an "Active Directory" policy that specifies the target relative DN (OU) for VMs deployed by that project.
- C. The "Cloud Zone" placement policy.
- D. The "Flavor Mapping".

答案： B

問題 #22

A security team requires that all deployed web servers must automatically have the "Apache" software installed and be continuously monitored to ensure the configuration does not drift (e.g., if a user stops the service, it is restarted automatically).

Which VCF Automation component provides this "Configuration Management" and "State Enforcement" capability?

- A. VCF Automation Config (formerly SaltStack Config). This component uses an event-driven automation engine to deploy software, manage OS configurations, and enforce compliance (State) across the deployed inventory.
- B. VCF Automation Orchestrator.
- C. VCF Automation Assembler.
- D. VCF Automation Pipelines.

答案： A
