NEW QUESTION # 56

Which Spectrum Analyzer plot visualizes the spectrum over time?

- A. Utilization
- B. Duty Cycle
- C. Real-Time FFT
- D. Waterfall

Answer: D

Explanation:

A waterfall plot displays frequency on one axis, signal strength on another, and time on the third (typically color-coded), allowing visualization of how the spectrum changes over time.

NEW QUESTION # 57

You're the WLAN administrator for a large retailer based at the HQ in New York. The London-based office has been complaining about WLAN disconnections around lunch time each day. You suspect this might be interference from the staff microwave, how might you test your theory from the New York office?

- A. Ask a local member of staff to change the frequency of the microwave and see if the disconnections stop
- B. Place one of the London APs into spectrum analyzer mode and monitor the situation over lunch time
- C. Access the microwave remotely and run a diagnostic check
- D. Ask a local member of staff to take some pictures of the microwave, including some close-ups of the door seal so that you can assess it

Answer: B

Explanation:

Placing an AP into spectrum analyzer mode allows remote monitoring of RF energy in the 2.4 GHz band during the suspected time of interference. Microwave ovens emit broadband RF interference that is clearly visible in spectrum analysis. By observing the RF activity over lunch time, you can correlate interference patterns with the reported WLAN disconnections without needing to be physically present.
