EC-COUNCIL EC-Council Certified Network Defender CND Sample Questions (Q344-Q349):

NEW QUESTION # 344

Adam, a malicious hacker, has just succeeded in stealing a secure cookie via a XSS attack. He is able to replay the cookie even while the session is valid on the server. Which of the following is the most likely reason of this cause?

- A. No encryption is applied.
- B. Encryption is performed at the application layer (single encryption key).
- C. Encryption is performed at the network layer (layer 1 encryption).
- D. Two way encryption is applied.

Answer: B

Explanation:

Single key encryption uses a single word or phrase as the key. The same key is used by the sender to encrypt and the receiver to decrypt. Sender and receiver initially need to have a secure way of passing the key from one to the other. With TLS or SSL this would not be possible. Symmetric encryption is a type of encryption that uses a single key to encrypt and decrypt data. Symmetric encryption algorithms are faster than public key encryption. Therefore, it is commonly used when a message sender needs to encrypt a large amount of data.

Data Encryption Standard (DES) uses the symmetric encryption key algorithm to encrypt data.

NEW QUESTION # 345

Henry, head of network security at Gentech, has discovered a general report template that someone has reserved only for the CEO. Since the file has to be editable, viewable, and deletable by everyone, what permission value should he set?

- A. 0
- B. 1
- C. 2
- D. 3

Answer: B

NEW QUESTION # 346

Rick has implemented several firewalls and IDS systems across his enterprise network. What should he do to effectively correlate all incidents that pass through these security controls?

- A. Implement Simple Network Management Protocol (SNMP)
- B. Use Network Time Protocol (NTP)
- C. Use firewalls in Network Address Transition (NAT) mode
- D. Implement IPsec

Answer: B

Explanation:

To effectively correlate incidents across various security controls like firewalls and IDS systems, it is essential to ensure that the timestamps of logs and events are synchronized. This is where Network Time Protocol (NTP) comes into play. NTP ensures that all devices on the network are on the same time setting, which is crucial for event correlation. Without synchronized time settings, it would be challenging to establish a timeline of events and understand the sequence in which they occurred, making incident response and forensic analysis more difficult.

NEW QUESTION # 347

Which of the following is not part of the recommended first response steps for network defenders?

- A. Do not change the state of the suspected device
- B. Restrict yourself from doing the investigation
- C. Disable virus protection
- D. Extract relevant data from the suspected devices as early as possible

Answer: A

NEW QUESTION # 348

Who oversees all the incident response activities in an organization and is responsible for all actions of the IR team and IR function?

- A. IR custodians
- B. IR officer
- C. Attorney
- D. PR specialist

Answer: B

Explanation:

In the context of the EC-Council's Certified Network Defender (CND) program, the individual who oversees all incident response (IR) activities within an organization is typically referred to as the IR officer. This role is responsible for coordinating all actions of the IR team and ensuring that the IR function operates effectively. The IR officer's responsibilities include overseeing the development and implementation of incident response plans, managing the response to security incidents, and ensuring that the organization's IR policies and procedures are followed.
