Microsoft GitHub Advanced Security Sample Questions (Q28-Q33):

NEW QUESTION # 28

What is the first step you should take to fix an alert in secret scanning?

- A. Update your dependencies.
- B. Revoke the alert if the secret is still valid.
- C. Archive the repository.
- D. Remove the secret in a commit to the main branch.

Answer: B

Explanation:

The first step when you receive a secret scanning alert is to revoke the secret if it is still valid. This ensures the secret can no longer be used maliciously. Only after revoking it should you proceed to remove it from the code history and apply other mitigation steps. Simply deleting the secret from the code does not remove the risk if it hasn't been revoked - especially since it may already be exposed in commit history.

NEW QUESTION # 29

The autobuild step in the CodeQL workflow has failed. What should you do?

- A. Remove specific build steps.
- B. Remove the autobuild step from your code scanning workflow and add specific build steps.
- C. Use CodeQL, which implicitly detects the supported languages in your code base.
- D. Compile the source code.

Answer: B

Explanation:

If autobuild fails (which attempts to automatically detect how to build your project), you should disable it in your workflow and replace it with explicit build commands, using steps like `run: make` or `run: ./gradlew build`. This ensures CodeQL can still extract and analyze the code correctly.

NEW QUESTION # 30

Which of the following workflow events would trigger a dependency review? (Each answer presents a complete solution. Choose two.)

- A. pull_request
- B. trigger
- C. workflow_dispatch
- D. commit

Answer: A,C

Explanation:

Comprehensive and Detailed Explanation:

Dependency review is triggered by specific events in GitHub workflows:

`pull_request`: When a pull request is opened, synchronized, or reopened, GitHub can analyze the changes in dependencies and provide a dependency review.

`workflow_dispatch`: This manual trigger allows users to initiate workflows, including those that perform dependency reviews. The `trigger` and `commit` options are not recognized GitHub Actions events and would not initiate a dependency review.

NEW QUESTION # 31

Which of the following is the best way to prevent developers from adding secrets to the repository?

- A. Enable push protection
- B. Configure a security manager
- C. Create a CODEOWNERS file
- D. Make the repository public

Answer: A

Explanation:

The best proactive control is push protection. It scans for secrets during a git push and blocks the commit before it enters the repository.

Other options (like CODEOWNERS or security managers) help with oversight but do not prevent secret leaks.

Making a repo public would increase the risk, not reduce it.

NEW QUESTION # 32

Assuming that notification and alert recipients are not customized, what does GitHub do when it identifies a vulnerable dependency in a repository where Dependabot alerts are enabled? (Each answer presents part of the solution. Choose two.)

- A. It generates Dependabot alerts by default for all private repositories.
- B. It generates a Dependabot alert and displays it on the Security tab for the repository.
- C. It consults with a security service and conducts a thorough vulnerability review.
- D. It notifies the repository administrators about the new alert.

Answer: B,D

Explanation:

Comprehensive and Detailed Explanation:

When GitHub identifies a vulnerable dependency in a repository with Dependabot alerts enabled, it performs the following actions:

Generates a Dependabot alert: The alert is displayed on the repository's Security tab, providing details about the vulnerability and affected dependency.

Notifies repository maintainers: By default, GitHub notifies users with write, maintain, or admin permissions about new Dependabot alerts.

GitHub Docs

These actions ensure that responsible parties are informed promptly to address the vulnerability.
