NEW QUESTION # 115

Which of the following is used to monitor progress?

- A. Burn-down chart
- B. Delegation matrix
- C. Swarming
- D. T-shirt sizing

Answer: A

Explanation:

The burn-down chart is a visual tool used in agile to monitor progress by tracking the remaining work against time. It provides teams and stakeholders with a clear, real-time view of project status and forecast completion, allowing for early identification of potential delays or bottlenecks.

The delegation matrix (A) defines authority, swarming (B) is a team collaboration technique, and t-shirt sizing (C) is an estimation method, none of which directly monitor progress.

NEW QUESTION # 116

What describes essential aspects of project management that must be applied consistently and throughout the project lifecycle?

- A. The PRINCE2 practices
- B. The PRINCE2 processes
- C. The project context
- D. The people element

Answer: A

Explanation:

The PRINCE2 practices represent the essential aspects of project management that must be applied consistently from start to finish in every project. These practices cover key areas such as managing risks, issues, quality, plans, progress, and change. They provide structured guidance and tools to ensure the project remains viable, controlled, and aligned with business objectives.

While processes define the stages and flow of activities, and the people element refers to roles and skills, practices are the ongoing activities and controls embedded throughout the project lifecycle. The project context shapes how practices and processes are tailored but does not itself define the consistent elements.

This consistent application of practices supports governance, transparency, and control, critical for successful project outcomes.
