Cisco Designing and Implementing Cisco Service Provider Cloud Network Infrastructure Sample Questions (Q180-Q185):

NEW QUESTION # 180
What are the key benefits of automatic fault management in service assurance? (Select two)

- A. Enhanced network reliability and uptime
- B. Reduced need for real-time monitoring
- C. Quick identification and mitigation of network issues
- D. Increasing manual intervention

Answer: A,C

NEW QUESTION # 181
What is a valid connection method between carrier-neutral facilities within the same metro area?

- A. CAT6e connection
- B. private wireless connection
- C. DWDM ring
- D. OSPF backbone area adjacency

Answer: C

Explanation:
Comprehensive and Detailed Explanation Based on Designing and Implementing Cisco Service Provider Cloud Network Infrastructure Knowledge When connecting carrier-neutral facilities (CNFs) or data centers within the same metropolitan area, service providers typically use high-bandwidth, low-latency optical transport methods. The most appropriate and commonly deployed interconnection technology is:
DWDM (Dense Wavelength Division Multiplexing) ring, which provides:
* High capacity (10G, 40G, 100G, 400G)
* Low latency
* Redundancy through ring or mesh topologies
* Multi-wavelength multiplexing for cost efficiency
* Carrier-grade reliability for metro interconnect services
This aligns with cloud interconnect and metro transport design used in service provider environments.
Evaluation of the Options
A). OSPF backbone area adjacency
This is a routing protocol adjacency, not a physical connection method. It requires a transport link underneath but does not represent the physical interconnect itself.
B). Private wireless connection
Not suitable for CNF or metro DC interconnect because it lacks the bandwidth, reliability, and deterministic performance required for large-scale carrier-grade interconnects.
C). DWDM ring
This is the correct method. DWDM-based metro fiber rings are the standard for connecting carrier-neutral facilities in the same metro region.
D). CAT6e connection
This is limited to short-distance copper Ethernet (tens of meters). It is not used for metro-scale interconnects or between CNFs.

NEW QUESTION # 182
Carrier-neutral facilities offer connectivity options to cloud providers through which of the following?
(Choose two)

- A. Dedicated leased lines
- B. Public internet gateways
- C. Direct connect services
- D. Dial-up connections

Answer: A,C

NEW QUESTION # 183
FaaS is an ideal cloud service model for:

- A. Event-driven, short-lived microservices
- B. Data-intensive, long-running processes
- C. Large, monolithic applications
- D. Applications requiring extensive customization of the underlying OS

Answer: A

NEW QUESTION # 184
Which of the following best describes the relationship between OpenStack and NFV?

- A. NFV is a component of OpenStack.
- B. OpenStack and NFV cannot be used together.
- C. NFV can be deployed on top of OpenStack to virtualize network functions.
- D. OpenStack provides the physical infrastructure for NFV.

Answer: C
